MAYORALTY BATTLE HERE BITTER

Four Killed in Finleyville Accident

Car Slams Into Pole Yesterday

Three men and a woman died instantly when their sedan failed to negotiate a curve and was literally ripped apart as it slammed into a utility pole in Finleyville early yesterday.

A fourth man is in Monongahela Memorial Hospital where he is in "fair" condition.

Dead are:

Mrs. Margaret L. O'Day, 39, of Mt. Lebanon, John A. Harper, 29, of Library; Charles J. Kellar, 33, of Library and William Capwell, 39, of Finleyville, R. D. 3.

Injured was Charles Bowen, 28, of Library, who is being treated for multiple injuries.

Badly Wrecked

Police said the auto was so badly wrecked it is difficult to establish the position of the occupants in the machine but they believe that Harper, who owned the 1956 model sedan, was at the wheel at turn at the bottom of a hill.

The car was apparently traveling at a terrific rate of speed as it entered Finleyville from the north on Rt. 88, police said.

After passing over railroad tracks it moved down a steep grade and failed to make a sharp turn at the bottom of ahill.

As the machine left the road, police said, it hit a utility pole which almost completely tore away one side of the vehicle. The hood of the car catapulted over two parked cars in a lot and jammed into the window of a used car lot office building.

The battery of Harper's auto was thrown through the window of another car which was parked in the lot.

Car Was Speeding

The demolished machine came to a stop in front of a Finleyville funeral parlor.

Residents who arrived at the scene said Harper was on the ground beside his machine and Kellar lay across Harper's body. Capwell and Mrs O'Day were still pinned in the front seat of the car.

G. H Gates, who lives near the used car lot where the accident occured, told police he arrived at the scene as Bowen was crawling from the back seat. Bowen muttered to police that shortly before the crash, the car's speedometer was registering 105 miles per hour.

Capwell is survived by his wife, three children and his parents.

Harper a veteran of World War II, leaves his parents and three brothers.

Kellar is survived by his parents, four brothers and four sisters.

Mrs. O'Day, a widow of four years, leaves two daughters.

Six persons were injured in two mishaps in Route 40 east during the weekend.

TRUJILLO REELECTED — General Hector B Trujillo Molina, reelected President of the Dominican Republic, is shown as he posed for an official portrait. In 1952 he succeeded his elder brother, Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo Molina to the post, which is held for a five-year term.

Two Accidents In City Over Past Weekend

Two motor accidents occurred in Monessen over the weekend, police reported today.

Two cars were involved in an accident near the intersection of First St and Schoonmaker Ave late Saturday morning. Police said a car operated by Gabriel Urko, of R. D. 1, Belle Vernon, was traveling east on Schoonmaker Ave. when it struck an open door on a parked car belonging to George Pollack, of Walnut St., Donora.

A car parked in a parking lot near 11th St. and Schoonmaker Ave. was struck by a hit-run driver sometime after midnight yesterday. Police listed the owners of the parked car as Elizabeth and Edward Barker, of 910 Dawson St., Belle Vernon.

Barker was at work at the Monessen plant of Pittsburgh Steel Co when the accident occured. Damage was slight, it was said

Police believe they have the identity of the hit-run motorist.

Dow Youth Still in 'Fair' Condition

Charles David Dow, 17, of 1223 Marion Ave., Monessen, still is in "fair" condition in Charlero-Monessen Hospital with injures suffered in an auto accident early Friday morning on Rt. 71. He is suffering from head, shoulder and back injuries.

A companion in the car driven by Dow, Joseph Garofalo, Jr., of 1331 Reeves Ave. died about five hours later of injuries sustained in the crash.

The Garofalo youth will be buried tomorrow morning.

AFL-CIO Ousts Beck As Vice President For 'Misuse' of Funds

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (UP) — Teamster President Dave Beck was ousted as an AFL-CIO vice president by the AFL-CIO high command today on grounds of "gross misuse" of union funds.

WASHINGTON (UP) — Teamsters President Dave Beck refused today to accept his suspension as an AFL-CIO vice president and told the AFL-CIO high command he would not answer its charges against him.

The 62-year-old union leader was brought to trial by the AFL-CIO executive council on charges of "malfeasance and maladministration" as an AFL-CIO officer and "bringing the labor movement into disrepute."

The council met behind closed doors on the 8th floor at AFL-CIO headquarters to give Beck "a chance to answer."

He flatly refused.

Beck, who is under indictment on income tax evasion charges, told the council that "to require me to answer charges before this body which relate in any way to my defense (against the tax charges) would appear to violate my rights as an American citizen as well as my rights as a long-standing member of the trade union movement.

"Any answers to charges made here," Beck said, could be readily subpenaed by the Senate Rackets Committee which is investigating charges he has used Teamster funds for his own personal gain.

May Force Ouster

The unprecedented closed door trial was almost certain to result in his disbarment as an AFL-CIO vice president and executive council member

He demanded in a 500-word statement that the council revoke its temporary suspension of him as a AFL-CIO officer, arguing that it is a "nullity."

He also demanded that the council "quash" the charges against him and defer a hearing on any charges relating to his income tax case until he has had a chance to defend himself in federal court.

Meanwhile his position as head of the nation's biggest union has been challenged by Teamsters Vice President John T. O'Brien who has announced he will run against the beleaguered Beck at the union's September convention.

Seek Dismissal In Monongahela Murder Charge

WASHINGTON, Pa. (UP) — Counsel for Mrs. Lena Trappin, 75, Monongahela woman charged with murder in the strangulation of a neighborhood shoemaker, asked dismissal of the charge for lack of evidence today.

Attorney William Robinson told Judge David H. Wiener that the state had failed to produce sufficient reason for holding the stocky 190-pound woman for the slaying of Joseph Mancuso, 65, whose body was found with a belt looped around the neck in the yard of Mrs. Trappin's home May 2

Judge Wiener set June 13 for a hearing on Robinson's motion for a writ of habeas corpus and granted a request that the defendant be released under $3,000 bond pending the hearing. The district attorney's office did not oppose granting of bail, which was regarded as an indication it does not plan to seek a first degree conviction.

Father of Four Killed by Gas

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Joseph Chromey, 28, Pittsburgh father of four, was killed Sunday when gas filled a 16-foot deep manhole in which he worked at the Hazelwood plant of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Co. Gordon A. Aiken, 62, Pittsburgh, who was in the pit with Chromey also was overcome but survived. Two other workers, Albert Geirger, 28, and John R. Dzugan, 39, both of Pittsburgh, lost consciousness when they attempted to rescue Aiken and Chromey.

The three survivors were hospitalized.

J&L officials said Aiken and Chromey descended into the hole to open the valve on a 30-inch by-product gas line. The valve's packing apparently loosened and deadly gas was freed, officers said.

Burned to Death

ALTOONA, Pa. (UP) — Wilson Shenefelt, 81, retired quarry worker, burned to death Sunday when he was trapped in his flaming trailer home near Williamsburg.

Colored Groups in Appeal for Parente

A last-minute appeal for Negro votes for Mayor Hugo J. Parente was made over the weekend by leaders of several Monessen colored organizations.

A circular being distributed among Negro voters says, "If Parente goes, our people go."

It goes on to claim that the Mayor:

—Was "first to recognize FEPC in Pennsylvania."

—Was "first to sponsor a colored lieutenant of police"

"Sponsored 11 full-time jobs in the City of Monessen"

—"Sponsored 5 full-time jobs in the capitol at Harrisburg"

—"Sponsored 2 of our college boys for summer work"

"Where is your racial pride?" the circular asks, "Did Parente's opponent ever hire our girls in his two stores?"

The circular carries the signatures of Mrs. Lillie Corley, president, ladies auxiliary, Monessen Choral & Literary Society; Claude Garry Jr., Democratic committeeman; Harry Grogan, president, M. P. S. A.; Maggie Carter, president, ladies auxiliary, Legion Post 691, and Lucius Corley, exalter ruler, I. B. P. O. E. of W.

Write-in Votes To Be Important In Election Here

Tomorrow's election is a party primary. The voter will vote only for candidates on his own party ticket.

However, he may either write-in or paste on his voting machine or ballot the name of a candidate whose name is not actually printed on the machine or ballot.

Where voting machines are in use, write-in or sticker votes are cast as follows:

When the voter is inside the booth and the curtain is closed, he will see near the top of the voting machine a number of slots each covered by a slide. The slots are located immediately above each office.

The voter pushes up the slide covering one of the slots over the office for which he wishes to cast a write-in vote. He then either writes the candidate's name or pastes the sticker on the paper exposed in the opening.

When he has finished registering the rest of his votes, he opens the curtain and his vote will be recorded

To eliminate doubt, the full name of the candidates should be used

Judgeship Race In County Gets Second Billing

Sculco Pressed By Loughran

A complicated race for two judicial nominations was the feature of the pre-primary campaign in Westmoreland County which comes to a close tonight.

There was believed to be a fairly good chance that the Democratic courthouse organization may lose one of its two judgeship candidates

Judge Edward G Bauer, seeking a second term with organization backing, was considered a sure winner on the Democratic ticket

But District Attorney L Alexander Sculco, bidding for the other nomination, was being hard pressed by his former assistant, Joseph M. Loughran, who split with the organization and is making an independent race.

Attorneys Robert H. Rial and Avra N Pershing Jr. are not expected to have serious trouble getting the two Republican nominations for judge. They are the only registered Republicans running.

Bid for GOP Votes

Judge Bauer, however, was said to be making a serious effort to capture a Republican nomination with the aid of the New Kensington forces of William P. Nowe, a well known politician who operates in both parties. Bauer, a former Republican himself, once managed an unsuccessful campaign for Nowe for sheriff and the two have been close political associates ever since.

The sixth judicial candidate is James L. McWherter, a young attorney and nephew of the late Judge George H. McWherter. All six candidates are running on both party tickets.

Contests for other county offices have not produced much stir during the campaign. Two Monessen officeholders, both sitting by appointment and both backed by the courthouse organization, have independent candidates running against them.

They are Raymond H Turner, son of Chief County Detective Arthur B. "Buddy" Turner, and Stephen D. Yoney. Young Turner is running for clerk of courts and Yoney for coroner.

Turner's opponent is Howard M Bricker, a deputy sheriff, while Yoney is opposed by Pat J. Doyle, of Greensburg.

Earl S. Keim, an assistant district attorney, is unopposed for the Democratic D. A. nomination, and Prothonotary Leo S Sukala will be renominated without opposition.

Big Vote Expected

Dora M. Dunn, the incumbent, and Edward F. McKee, William R. Kelly and Joseph D. Appleby are seeking the Democratic nomination for jury commissioner, which is tantamount to election since each party designates one commissioner and two are elected in the general election.

On the Republican ticket, aside from the judicial race the only contests are for clerk of courts,

Parente, Stieska In Close Battle

A bitter — and possibly close — race for the Democratic mayoralty nomination in Monessen was continuing to hold the spotlight on the eve of tomorrow's primaries.

Receiving second billing in most political conversations was the Westmoreland County common pleas judgeship contest in which six candidates are seeking the two nominations to be made by each party.

Although most observers think the mayoralty contest is one of the closest in years, the opposing candidates made confident predictions of victory.

Mayor Hugo J. Parente, who is seeking an unprecedented fourth term this year, said:

"There's no question but that we're going to win. We also expect to get nominations on the Republican ticket since we have been

Polling Hours from 8 to 9 Tomorrow

The polling places for tomorrow's primary election will be open from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m., edt. Voting machines will be in use in the 15 Monessen precincts while paper ballots will be used elsewhere in this area of Westmoreland County.

Belle Vernon, Washington Township and Fayette City, all in Fayette County, will use voting machines.

working hard on that end also."

The Mayor, one of the top figures in county politics as well as in Monessen, said he expects as many as 8,000 votes to be cast in the Democratic primary here tomorrow. The city has slightly over 9,000 registered Democrats.

Stieska Confident

Parente said he is expecting his opponent, John R. Stieska, a druggist who has never held public office here, to receive only "the usual protest vote" of between 2,500 to 3,000.

Stieska, however, was claiming a "landslide" victory.

"The sentiment all over town is for a change," he said. "People are sick and tired of this bunk. We'll win by a landslide."

Stieska also is expecting a heavy turnout of voters.

Asked what he would consider a "landslide", the short, stocky candidate said his margin would be "at least 1,100".

Although he has made no open tie-ups with other candidates, Stieska put in a final good word for the other independents who are opposing Mayor Parente's City Hall slate.

"There are some capable men bucking the slate this time,"

Belle Vernon Pastor Resigns

The Rev. S. George Clarke, pastor of the Belle Vernon Presbyterian Church, has resigned.

No future plans were announced, but the Rev. Mr. Clarke asked that the resignation be effective June 30. A congregation meeting will be held next Sunday to act on the request.

The Rev. Mr. Clarke came to the Belle Vernon church three years ago last August 1 and resides with his wife and children in the manse on Broad Ave.

The congregation is in the process of building a new church on Fayette St.

The postcard reminders were mailed to all registered Republicans in the county and bore the signature of Edwin Swink county chairman.

Coroner Candidate

Pat J. Doyle of Greensburg, independent candidate for the Democratic nomination for coroner of Westmoreland County, issued an election eve statement today in which he blasted the 'dictatorship' of the courthouse political machine.

'This so-called Democratic organization" said Doyle 'is nothing more than bossism by a gang of opportunists that swings its loyalty from one side of the political fence to the other, depending on which party is in power. And this same gang has grown in power and prospered in dollars only by virtue of a majority Democrat registration these last 20 years.'

The courthouse organization has slated Stephen D. Yoney, of Monessen, for coroner. Yoney is now serving in the office by appointment.

Rallies Tonight

The final night of the pre-primary campaign will see parting shots being boomed all over Monessen as the candidates for City offices make their final bids for votes in tomorrow's election.

Meetings and public appearances at clubs, taprooms and street corners are scheduled for tonight's all-out effort.

Mayor Hugo J. Parente and his City Hall slate will wind up their pre-primary campaign at the Arch Tavern on Sixth St. at 8 p. m. Councilman Paul F. Jones, of Pittsburgh, will speak. Following this meeting the Parente slate will make spot appearances all over town.

Parente's opponent John R. Stieska, won't be idle tonight. He has meetings set for 7:30 at the Ninth Street Italian Club and 9 o'clock at the Greek American Progressive Association on 12th St.

GOP at Rally

Some 60 registered Republicans gathered at Park Casino Saturday afternoon to hear Mayor Parente make an appeal for Republican "write-in" votes. The Republicans were given refreshments and saw the sound film called "The Monessen Story."

Tony Kovalitski, local Republican chairman, was among those present. Many Republicans said they attended the meeting out of curiosity.

Mayoralty

Stieska said "and I expect them to get a good vote all down the line."

No Republicans

There are no candidates for local offices on the Republican ticket and most of the Democratic candidates are appealing for write-in or sticker votes from GOP friends.

Both Stieska and Parente are confident of winning the Republican nomination as well as the Democratic.

Besides the mayoralty contest five candidates are running for the two nominations for City Council. On the Parente slate are incumbents John Molnar and David R. Victoria.

The independent councilmanic candidates are John Haihai, now the Third Ward alderman; Stephen Sinchak, real estate and insurance man and William C. Snyder, a contractor.

For city treasurer Dr. G. L. Trill, a chiropodist and former school director, is said to be making a hard race against incumbent John P. Spielman, who is backed by the Parente forces.

James Tucci is seeking renomination with Parente support for controller. The independent candidates are Manuel J. Alonios, First Ward alderman, and Kenneth A. McNaughton, a taxi driver.

Seven Democrats are seeking two nominations for school director. The include veteran Director Joseph M. Dudas, Sr., who has been on the school board for many years. The other candidates are Robert Workoski, John E. Kerekes, Emil T. Beck, Anthony J. Tocco, Donald F. Leonard and Michael Suma.

For the Third Ward alderman nomination, the candidates are James D. Cox, John B. Saccone and J. W. Woods.

Dog on 'Trial' For Sheep Kill; Attention High

KENTON, O. (UP) — A 105-pound St. Bernard dog went on trial here today for sheep killing.

But Annie, the big sad-looking St. Bernard won't be in the courtroom. She will remain in the kennel here where she has been kept since her arrest Feb. 25.

Emerson Fay, a farmer, has identified Annie as one of two dogs which fled his farm the night sheep were slaughtered. Mrs. Joan Perkins, a restaurant operator, said the dog was tied up at home that night.

The trial actually is a hearing on an injunction sought by Annie's co-owner, Mrs. Joanna C. Perkins. She obtained the temporary order to prevent Dog Warden Raymond Hattery from doing away with the dog.

Judge Arthur Tudor of the Hardin County Common Pleas Court will decide whether the dog will live or die. If the injunction is made permanent, Hattery will be restrained from killing the dog.

Mrs. W. A. Martin, president of a newly-formed Animal Protective Assn., has called for the dismissal of Hattery and an investigation of his activities.

The scheduled trial has stirred up residents. Court officials said many persons requested reserved seats for the hearing.

Graham Warns Crusade May Be 'The Last Call'

NEW YORK (UP)—Evangelist Billy Graham warned Sunday night that his Madison Square Garden crusade "may be God's last call to this generation" before the world is destroyed.

"I have not only God's word for it that the end of the world is in sight," he said, "but I also have the word of the scientists.

"The Iron Curtain countries are arming to the teeth and we in the West are arming to the teeth, and we are told that in a flash—in a moment—it is possible to destroy New York with the push of a button."

Graham addressed an overflow crowd of 19,000—the largest yet in New York—in the fifth night of his crusade.

The 38-year-old evangelist said the crusade in New York was 'the biggest and most important mission of my life." At the close of his sermon 931 persons came forward to make 'decisions for Christ."

In the first five nights of Graham's crusade here 3,757 persons have made 'decisions for Christ." Including a crowd of 40,000 persons who listened to an outdoor sermon in Brooklyn Sunday afternoon, Graham has addressed over 100,000.

Slovak Testimonial For Charter Members

A large crowd attended the testimonial dinner held last night for charter and 25-year-old members of the Monessen Slovak Club.

The dinner was also held to celebrate the grand opening of the new addition to the Slovak Home at 335 Schoonmaker Ave.

John Radacsy and John Kurey, both 50-year members of the organization, were two of the honored guests. Radacsy was unable to attend because of illness.

Other members honored were George Andreskovich, John G. Check, Jr., Dr. Joseph M. Dudas, Andrew Hasco, Andrew Hotochin, Joseph Krupa, Michael Suhich, Sr., John Tutena, Sr., John Stofan, Andrew Stash, Valent Ungvarsky, Stephen Jurnak, John Danko and Andrew Gnip.

The Rev. Henry Marcinek, of Holy Name Church, delivered the invocation and the Rev. Stephen Drab, also of Holy Name Church, the benediction.

Many on Program

Atty. Frank P. Ezerski, Jr., was toastmaster and Cyril Troycnak, banquet chairman, gave the welcome address. Official greetings were given by Mayor Hugo J. Parente. The Rev. Joseph Gajdosik, pastor of Holy Name Church, delivered a brief address.

Several selections were offered by 'The Four Specs,' a musical group made up of Walter Labeka, Joseph Lancas, James Tucci and David Victoria.

Principal speaker was Paul Kazimer, of Homestead, a radio announcer and official of several Slavonic organizations throughout the state.

John Kotch, Jr., president, introduced special guests, mostly political candidates from the City and Westmoreland County.

Following, Stephen Cirner, Sr. presented the honored guests with gifts of wallets containing money.

Members of the Slovak Ladies Auxiliary served a turkey dinner.

Dancing to 'The Harmoneers' followed in the main banquet room which had been enlarged during the club's recent modernization program.

Clark Urging Firm Decision Soon on Dam

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.) urged today that Congress make up its mind soon whether it will go ahead with work on the Kinzua Dam on the Allegheny River in Pennsylvania.

Clark told a Senate appropriations subcommittee he favors the project.

But he presented a letter from E. L. Van Sickel, Croydon, Pa. businessman to illustrate the need for a firm decision soon. Van Sickel wrote that the entire area in the proposed dam basin has suffered from a 'blight' for the 20 years since it was first authorized because no one knew exactly what areas would be flooded.

The project eventually would cost the federal government 101-million dollars. President Eisenhower's budget carries a one-million dollar item to start construction.

Clark made the same plea for approval to a House subcommittee last week.

Yugoslavia Aid Blasted; Senator Raps Decision

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. John M. Butler, (D-Md.) said Sunday night that President Eisenhower's decision to resume military aid to Yugoslavia "will further imperil" the President's embattled foreign aid program.

Butler said in a statement that "neither Congress nor the American people approve of this unmoral trafficking with the enemy."

He said aid to Yugoslavia 'patently ignored" the wishes of Congress and the American people because "they never contemplated military and economic aid to Communist-controlled countries behind the Iron Curtain as a proper means of protecting our security."

Butler said Marshal Tito "proved to be the same Russian puppet he had always been' during 'the Soviet rape of Hungary." He said this was proven when the Kremlin insisted that the Red Cross relief for Hungary be funneled through Yugoslavia rather than Austria.

Dillon Approved As Fund Governor

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate today by unanimous voice vote confirmed the nomination of C. Douglas Dillon, former ambassador to France, to be U.S. alternate governor of the International Monetary Fund.

Also approved were the nominations of six ambassadors including Joseph S. Farland of West Virginia to the Dominican Republic, and Don C. Bliss of New Jersey to Ethiopia.

Trucker to Ask County Release

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP)—Harold D. Cooksey, a New Kensington truck driver, will ask for his release from Westmoreland County jail Friday at a habeas corpus hearing before Judge John M. O'Connell.

Cooksey arrested in New Kensington April 6 on a fugitive warrant from Las Vegas, N.M., was detained on a bad check charge. Dist. Atty. L. Alexander Sculco said New Mexico officials were notified last month of Cooksey's arrest but no officer had arrived with an extradition warrant.

— OBITUARIES —

ANNE S. McMAHAN

Mrs. Anne S. McMahan, formerly home economist for the West Penn Power Co. in this district, died in the George Washington University Hospital, Washington, D. C., Friday night.

Mrs. McMahan was a resident of Charleroi for many years, where she was a member of the Quota Club.

She had been living in Lakeland, Fla., but was visiting a daughter, Mrs. David Naley, of Alexandria, Va., when she became ill about 10 days ago.

She is survived by five daughters, Mrs. William (Maureen) Hodgson, of Stroall Acres, Allenport, a former Society Editor of The Independent; Mrs. David (Betty) Naley, of Alexandria, Bonnie, of New Mexico, Eilleen, of Baltimore and Annette, of California state, and several sisters and brothers. Also surviving are six grandsons, two granddaughters and one great granddaughter.

Services were held in Arlington.

W. J. WILSON

William J. Wilson, former postmaster and borough secretary in Bentleyville, died yesterday afternoon in Houston, Washington County.

He was also treasurer of the Municipal Water Company and operated an insurance and real estate business.

Born in County Down, Ireland, Jan. 25, 1869, he came to this country as a young man and settled in the Bentleyville area.

He was a member of the Bentleyville Presbyterian Church and served on the session for a number of years. He was a member of the Men's Bible Class of the church, a charter member of the Bentleyville Fire Department and a member of the Bentleyville Hungry Club.

He made his home with his granddaughter, Mrs. Joanne Bruce, of Bentleyville, for the past eight years.

Surviving are three sons, William F., of Salinas, Calif., Walter, of Pittsburgh; George, of Long Beach, Calif., six grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Friends are being received at the Jones and Thompson Funeral Home, 809 North Main St., Bentleyville where services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m.

BOSWELL, N.M. (UP) — A-3c John Page, 18, Verona, Pa., was among five airmen from Walker Air Force Base who were killed in a three-way highway collision eight miles south of here, the Air Force said today.

Tyrone Youth Dies

TYRONE, Pa. (UP) — Richard Isenberg, 9, Tyrone, died in Tyrone Hospital early today of burns suffered when his clothing caught fire as he and his brother, Ronald, 4, played in their home here.

Ronald was reported in fair condition at the same hospital with first and second degree burns of the arms and legs. Police said one of the boys apparently lighted a match after turning on the burners of a kitchen range Sunday.

ENDORSE SALVATION ARMY DRIVE — Industry and union officials met Friday with general chairman Harry Gribben to endorse a $25,000 campaign to pay off the mortgage on the new Salvation Army citadel at 308-312 Schoonmaker Ave., Monessen. The drive started today and will run through June 29. Pledging their support were these men: (front row, left to right) Albert DeMatteo, president of police local 2994; John Rainey, president, Local 3403, Monessen Southwestern; Joseph Burger, president, clerical local 3496; Rudolph Greco, shop steward, 1229; (back row) Edwin Dawson, works manager, Pittsburgh Steel Co.; Anthony Ortolona, president, local 1229; Andy Waco, vice president, bi-products local 2698; Ernest Altemare and Richard Bow, industrial relations, Pittsburgh Steel Co.

District Group To Visit New Corning Center

A group of 12 persons from Monessen and Charleroi will travel to Corning, N. Y., this Thursday when Corning Glass Works dedicates its new research and administration center there.

The delegation will be guests of the company Thursday, Friday and Saturday. A day-long program will be held Friday, ending with a banquet at which President William C. Decker will deliver the welcome address. The day will also include a tour of the new facilities.

The new facilities include a nine-story administration building, three-story research laboratory and a one-story development workshop.

The building will be formally dedicated Saturday at 2 p. m.

D. L. Glunt, Dr. R. L. Smar and Alex Zelinski will represent the Borough of Charleroi.

Representing the company's Charleroi plant will be Victoria Burtout, H. Marvin Hosier, David Johns, J. Roger Joy, John Labosh, Clem Mariana, Elmer Paridny and Harry Prentice.

Harry R. Pore, Jr., editor of The Daily Independent, Monessen, will also attend.

Dormitory Burns At St. Francis

LORETTO, Pa. (UP)—Fire destroyed a two-story wooden dormitory which housed about 30 St. Francis College students here Sunday night despite efforts of 10 volunteer fire companies to save the structure.

Authorities said the students who lived in the building, Giles Hall, all escaped without injury but lost their belongings.

The blaze broke out shortly before midnight and within an hour the roof collapsed.

Prior to 1919 the structure was used by monks of the Franciscan Order who have moved to the Mt. Assi Monastary adjacent to the college.

Everything on Rise, Administration Says

WASHINGTON (UP)—Virtually everything in the rapidly-growing American economy—including prices—is on the rise, the administration reported today.

President Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers summarized the growth in its monthly "economic indicators" report to the Joint Congressional Economic Committee.

According to the May report the gross national product—output of all goods and services in the nation—was at a record annual rate of $427,100,000,000 in the first three months of this year. Personal income in April rose to an all-time high of $339,300,000,000, corporate profits in the first quarter were at a near record of 23 billion dollars after taxes. April employment was at a monthly record of 66,746,000 and even depressed farm income was up.

Some of the nation's business leaders, meeting at Hot Springs, Va., said last week these factors point to a "solid resumption of the economic boom" in 1958.

But one vital facet of the economy still is worrying economists and business and government leaders. That is the increasing cost of living and rising interest rates.

W. Randolph Burgess, Treasury undersecretary and manager of the government's huge 274 billion dollar debt, told newsmen price inflation still is a "serious threat" to the economy. So, he conceded, is the interest rate spiral.

The Council of Economic Advisers pointed up the rising cost of living in its May report. Consumer prices on all items, it said, are 18.9 per cent above the 1947-49 period used as a base for comparison. Food is up 13.2 per cent. Housing 24.9 per cent, apparel 6.8 per cent, transportation 35.1 per cent and medical care 36.4 per cent.

The council reported a similar upward trend in interest rates for short-term government borrowing. The rate on three-month Treasury bills rose from 1.2 per cent in 1950 to a high of 3.2 per cent in last December and January. The latest issue on May carried an interest rate of just under 3 per cent.

Truckers to Give Answers Tomorrow

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Representatives of more than 150 Western Pennsylvania trucking firms were scheduled to give their answer to Teamsters wage demands Tuesday when contract talks are resumed here.

Local 249, Teamsters Union presented initial demands for some 3,000 union members last week.

Thomas L. Fagan, local president, said the union made "reasonable" demands for a wage increase and other contract improvements.

The present two-year contract expires at midnight May 31.

Methodists Make Pastoral Changes

Several district ministerial assignments were announced at the close of the 132nd meeting of the Pittsburgh Conference of the Methodist Church which closed yesterday in Uniontown.

The appointments included:

The Rev. H. B. Moose to Newell, the Rev. Donald Scandrol to Donbo and West Brownsville and the Rev. C. K. Sowden to Speers and Coal Center.

Bulganin to Get Lenin's Locomotive

HELSINKI, Finland (UP)—Premier Karl - Ugust Fagerhold of Finland will give Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin a railroad locomotive as a souvenir when Bulganin visits Helsinki June 6, it was announced today.

The locomotive is the one in which Lenin fled to Finland from Russia disguised as an engineer in 1917 after Russian officials ordered his arrest.

Blue Monday, when applied to the Monday before Lent, received its name from the custom of decorating church interiors with blue hangings on that day.

An Election Is a Solemn Occasion

AN ELECTION in a democracy is a solemn occasion — or should be. Next to the acts connected with the exercise of his religious faith, the casting of his ballot is for the free man the most significant act of his life as a citizen.

Our pre-election campaigns usually involve a good deal of whoopla, and this one in Monessen and Westmoreland County has had even more of this than is usual. And candidates often engage in exaggerations about themselves as well as about their opponents which make us wonder if this process is really as serious and meaningful as we teach our children that it is.

But when election day comes and the whoopla and extravagances of the campaign have subsided and the citizens begin their visits to their polling places, the solemnity of the occasion becomes apparent again and only the most unfeeling citizen can fail to sense it.

What are we doing on election day that is so solemn? We are selecting the people to make laws, people to administer them, people to levy taxes on us and carry out the numberless functions of government which give human society the order and continuity it requires. And these are most important decisions, obviously.

* * *

BUT IN AMERICA we do something more than this when we exercise our right of voting. For the citizen at his polling place literally has in his hands this precious thing called liberty, the thing which came about in this land through great sacrifice and inspired planning and which has been preserved from generation to generation, often at terrible cost.

The citizen who uses his ballot without some sense of this trust he holds is less than a good American. If he sells his vote or if he casts it without having searched his conscience deeply, he makes himself unworthy of all that has been done to make him a free man. He is more a slave or a savage than an American living in liberty.

We have had the long habit of saying in this space on the eve of an election that tomorrow's election is one of the most important we have ever had. And that has been perfectly true every time we have said it. It will be just as true again tomorrow.

The liberty we treasure and which sets us apart is in the hands of the voters once more. Let us hope they use it well.

Unions Must Keep Themselves Clean

THE DELAY of the Teamsters Union in coming to grips with the corruption of President Dave Beck and his associates is indicative of a serious flaw in the union organization. It is clear that there is lacking either the impetus or the mechanism for dealing with offenses of this magnitude.

Every worthwhile organization, whether it is a union, a corporation, a political party, a government or a fraternal society, ought to contain within it the means to correct unwholesome conditions, to keep itself clean and pure to serve the purposes for which it was founded.

But the Teamsters Union seems to lack these means. The depradations of Beck, which have been exposed in such gruesome detail by the McClellan committee, are surely sufficient to have set in motion by this time whatever machinery existed within the union for keeping it clean. But either Mr. Beck's control is so tight that the machinery is frozen or the Teamsters Union is just inured to corruption in its leadership. Whichever it is is bad.

The lessons which are coming out of this exposure are both wholesome and forceful. We have some other labor unions which are controlled as tightly, if not as corruptly, as the Teamsters Union. And it is quite likely that if unwholesome conditions were to be discovered in some of these, there would be just as much delay and difficulty in correcting them. Like the Teamsters, other unions lack the mechanism for keeping themselves clean.

It is expected that the McClellan committee, when its investigations are concluded, will have recommendations to make for new legislation designed to improve the structure of unions and make them more responsive to the needs and wishes of their members.

But while new laws may be helpful and necessary, even more important, we should think, would be some efforts within the unions themselves to create conditions which would make it impossible for any leader to do what Beck has done to the Teamsters Union. We have a feeling that the more conscientious labor unions are already making studies to accomplish this. And the members of all unions should insist upon it at every opportunity.

Merry-Go-Round—

Wild Mood of Congress May Hurt Defense

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Congress is now in a wild, free-wheeling mood such as hasn't been seen by Washington observers since the ebb-days of Herbert Hoover.

It's a mood in which every Congressman wants to get in his whack at the budget so he can wave the meat-ax from the soapbox back home. It's a mood in which the budget may be cut up, not intelligently, but piecemeal when it gets to the floor of the House of Representatives.

Mr. Pearson

The mood is sweeping Congress like a tornado, and neither the President's TV appeal nor Congressional leaders have been able to stop it. Actually the leaders haven't tried. GOP leaders, all of them in the opposite wing from "modern Republicanism," are delighted at the way the budget worm has turned, and Ike's appeal brought as much critical mail as it did favorable. He was bitterly disappointed.

That was one reason he pulled his punches so markedly at his press conference the day after his TV address, announced to Congress that he would not retaliate against Republicans who opposed him, said he would not even work directly with the modern Republicans who are fighting for him.

This was like pinning a "kick me" sign on his own back. It was also equivalent to telling such courageous GOP friends as Sens. Clifford Case of New Jersey and Jack Javits of New York that their battles for him would be unrewarded.

No president since the days of Herbert Hoover, who never understood politics, has used these tactics with Congress. It means the abdication of power. In this case it may mean that Congress, not the White House, will be running the country for the next three and a half years.

Note — Responsible Congressional leaders such as George Mahon of Texas, head of the Military Appropriations subcommittee, are worried over what the hell-bent-for economy rush will do to the armed services. Mahon has warned House leaders they must stop the carnage when the defense budget comes up for a vote.

Two Old Soldiers

When those two old soldiers, Field Marshal Montgomery and General Eisenhower, decided they would have fired Generals Lee and Meade for their errors in the heat of Gettysburg, they forgot some errors they themselves made, not in the heat of battle, in World War II.

Their greatest error was to cut off the gasoline of Gens. Omar Bradley and George S. Patton when they were racing for the German border, bringing their offensive to a dead stop in order to let Monty catch up. Most war strategists have pulled their punches in evaluating this error, but some believe it caused many thousands of American casualties and delayed winning the war for three months.

General Bradley, one of the gentler critics, put it this way: "Three months and many casualties later we were to be forcefully reminded that in war, opportunity once forsaken, is opportunity lost forever. Not until Dec. 2 did Third Army crack the Saar — and then only after a bitter winter offensive through a heavily fortified line."

Other critics said the war could have been won before Christmas. Instead it terminated May 6.

This column reported guardedly Oct. 22, 1944 because of wartime censorship: "Montgomery had been given Caen as his objective. But days passed and nothing happened. Eisenhower kept hammering at Montgomery, urging an advance. But nothing happened. Finally air intelligence showed that German resistance behind allied lines was a mere shell. So Eisenhower gave the order for Bradley to ignore Montgomery and break through Nazi lines to the south."

Monty Wanted U. S. Troops

The fact was that Montgomery demanded an entire U. S. army, the First Army, to command before he would advance. General Bradley describes this in detail in his book "A Soldier's Story." He also tells how Montgomery was given his and Patton's gasoline. Bradley on the whole was kind toward his friend Eisenhower, but occasionally he chafed at the way Ike delayed the war and lost lives to appease Montgomery.

"Eisenhower was not yet ready to cut us free from Montgomery," wrote the man in command of Eisenhower's combat troops.

Montgomery suggested that the Third Army might bed down on the Meuse and there let Patton hold while he raced on to Berlin, wrote Bradley. "The proposal was reminiscent of Monty's tactics during the Sicilian campaign when he recommended that U. S. forces sit out the war on a defensive front while he went on alone to take Messina."

Rough Weather

From Washington—

What Is Disarmament Talk?

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

We are beginning to hear a lot about a limited arms-control agreement with the Soviet Union. There is no doubt that something is stirring.

Right now there is nothing more important than to be ready to measure everything which the Soviets have to propose and they appear to be in a proposing mood. We need to have clearly in mind the basis for judging whether their disarmament talk is a trap, a mirage or a miracle.

Mr. Drummond

This doesn't mean that we can or should or even can afford to run for cover if Moscow shows that the time has come when it wants really to reduce the heavy burden of East-West armaments with methods of control which would guarantee enforcement.

This is why our own position must be clear and reasonable. This is why we must have persuasive tests by which we can measure whether the Kremlin is offering the substance of arms control or only its shadow.

What ultimately may come out of the London talks is not yet evident. But it is possible to set out, I think, the essential criteria by which we can judge the validity of whatever the Soviet Union proposes or whatever the negotiators may agree on. These criteria would be:

1 — Any arms-reduction must be something which each side deems in its national interest. We can't let it disadvantage the West. We can't expect it to disadvantage the Soviets.

2 — We cannot accept the Communists' word that it will carry out a disarmament agreement. They are not honoring the armistice terms in Korea. They will not trust our word either. Therefore, there can be no safe agreement that cannot be safeguarded every step of the way. This is why inspection and control, tailor-made and un-vetoable, must be built into the center of any agreement.

3 — But how can we be absolutely sure that any arms-inspection plan which we accept on paper will work in practice? We can't be sure. Therefore, it would be best, it seems to me, to test the workability of arms-control prior to arms reduction — or at least prior to any significant arms reduction — so that each side can see how inspection works in operation.

4 — It is arguable that a very limited, carefully balanced East-West arms reduction could safely be undertaken in agreed stages simultaneously with arms inspection since it could be halted by either side if there was any balking at carrying out the inspection. If so, neither side could expect the other to accept any reduction which altered the present balance of military power.

5 — The experts say that the production of new nuclear weapons can surely be detected by any through-going system of inspection. But the existence and location of a concealed stockpile of nuclear weapons cannot be surely detected. This is why any substantial arms reduction, including a possible freeze on nuclear weapons, must include ground and open-sky surveillance in order to protect against surprise attack. To do this, each other's whole territory, not part of it, must be covered. Partial opening of each other's territory would be no protection against surprise attack. Limited inspection could be experimental, but it would be no basis for larger reduction of arms.

6 — There can be a substantial reduction of arms only when there is a substantial reduction of the East-West tensions. Moscow shows no sign of being willing to negotiate on major disagreements, such as unification of Germany and free elections in the satellites. This means that the Kremlin wants to maintain the cold war at a lower cost. This may be desirable but it should be seen for what it is.

7 — A bad disarmament treaty is worse than no disarmament treaty.

These are, I think, the needed criteria by which to test what is coming out of London.

The Woman's View—

Women Don't Follow Directions on Carton

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP)—One industrial designer has decided we women open packages the way we want—no matter what the directions on the box, can, jar or plastic container say.

As a result, said Saul Nesbitt, of Nesbitt Associates, it is time manufacturers and package designers became a little more kitchen-practical.

"Women just don't follow directions," said Nesbitt. "They open a package their own way. . . seems to me it's time we experts realized this and developed ideas along that line."

Mr. Nesbitt made a "gripe" study of housewives and middle-aged homemakers in three suburban New York communities. He found most of them ignore the "press here" or "cut along dotted line" instructions. They chop into package with knife, scissors, teeth or what have you.

Against Pry-Up Lids

He also found the greatest complaint is against the pry-up lid on glass jars, because they're hard to remove. Once off, they're hard to replace snugly.

Nesbitt's study started me thinking of my complaints and those I have heard from other women.

We non-mechanical females are thrown for a loss with those sardine, anchovy and pate tins in which the key always seems to be too short, and the shape of the container difficult to follow in cutting. Or, how about those circular oatmeal boxes, too large for convenient pouring, too small for easy dipping.

And think of the fingers we've burned following instructions on screw-type glass jar tops. Just "hold under the hot water faucet to loosen. . ."

William Simms, a spokesman for Modern Packaging, a trade magazine, said I'm complaining without realizing that the packing industry has its headaches.

Caught Two Ways

"The housewife wants the product easy to open," he said. "But she also wants it fully protected. The supplier is caught two ways."

Even so, he said the experts have made life a lot easier for us. He pointed to the "working package" as an example. It is both container and cooking utensil.

A good example: The corn bread mix packaged in a plastic bag. All the housewife needs do is break an egg and pour milk into the mix, knead the contents right in the container, pour into an aluminum foil pan (it comes with the package), and bake.

Simms said the working package is the newest trend and will save us women many a future step.

My own favorite improvement is in a new packaging for catsup—the squeeze bottle. Until it came along, I felt like Ogden Nash, who once wrote something to this effect:

You shake and shake a catsup bottle;
First out comes a little, and then a lottle.

Japanese infants are usually cared for by an older sister, who, while at play, carries the baby strapped on her back, a way in which she may be obliged to assist her mother after reaching five years of age.

Will Ike Take Part In Naming Successor?

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP) — Smart and genial James C. Hagerty says right out loud in public that President Eisenhower will have something to say about the 1960 nomination of a Republican presidential candidate.

Mr. Wilson

But even though Hagerty is Eisenhower's press secretary, and a member of the policy-making group which directs the executive department, there is reason for disbelief of Hagerty's statement about the President's political intentions.

President Eisenhower surely could and doubtless should have something to say about the 1960 nomination of a Republican presidential candidate. His spoken word, alone, probably would gain the nomination for any reasonably satisfactory man. There is cause, however, to question whether the President will say the word.

Look At 1956

Eisenhower was indescribably coy a year ago during the weeks and months when Vice President Richard M. Nixon was dangling on a string. The President said many kind things about his younger friend, but could not bring himself to say briefly and frankly that he desired again to have Nixon on the ticket.

In the process of avoiding that issue, the President let it be known that he felt it unseemly of him to attempt to direct last year's Republican National Convention in the nomination of a vice presidential candidate. It is reasonable to compare that feeling as expressed by the President with what Hagerty said the other night on Martha Rountree's "Press Conference (ABC)". It went like this:

Question: Do you think President Eisenhower is going to try to select or try to name or back very strongly his particular successor in the Republican Party?

Hagerty: I should think he would have something to say about it, surely.

Sees Strong Role

Question: You think the President will take a very strong role in the selection of the person who is going to be the Republican standard bearer?

Hagerty: Yes, I would think so.

The Eisenhower record with respect to Nixon last year simply does not support Hagerty's confidence. It is true that the pressure for a 1960 endorsement of someone — probably Nixon — will build up on Eisenhower to an almost insufferable burden. However, if the President thought it would be unseemly to suggest that the 1956 convention give him a running mate of his own choosing, how much less seemly would it be for him to attempt to tell the 1960 convention whom to name as his successor?

The Lighter Side—

Handy Travel Guide For Far-away Spots

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP)—Word has reached here that the island authorities are reactivating war-famed Henderson Field on Guadalcanal and the equally celebrated Munda airstrip on New Georgia.

The romantic names of these two exotic isles are a reminder that the travel season is nearly upon us. Millions will be on the move.

As a public service at this time, here are some excerpts from "Quigg's Handy Hegira Hints," a briefcase-size compendium in which that no-doubt noted travel writer scrubs off some far-away spots which have swum before his eyes for years.

(Note: Some of these places were visited under unseemly conditions induced by World War II. There may have been changes.)

Guadalcanal: Charming tropical hell-type paradise not too far below equator to escape its influence. Always seems to be steamed up about something. Tourists are advised to take along their own air. The local air often seems to be all steam and no oxygen. Northern coast affords magnificent view of assorted rusty, half-sunk ship hulks. Owing to generous warmth of climate, no clothing whatsoever is needed—except a full-length mosquito net for both day and night wear.

New Georgia: (See Guadalcanal).

Bougainville: Beautiful empress Augusta Bay has nice surf and swiftest undertow ever felt, outside Niagara Falls. Just inland are two more-or-less active volcanoes—they're more active when you're trying to sleep, shaking you around like a rag doll. Fauna includes five-inch centipedes with which tourists soon come to familiar terms.

Admiralty Islands: Great fishing, if you like crocodiles.

New Guinea: You can't see the woods for the fungus. Periodically, herds of ants on tour eat their way across the countryside; they have no special diet, will eat your clothes off your back or, if you prefer, eat you and leave the clothes standing there. The natives have interesting hairdo — bright red and tumbleweed-bushy.

New York: The natives are restless by night. Also by day.

New Zealand: The plural of Maori is Maori. The Maori pronounce Maori "Mowry." Maori stick out their tongues as a welcome sign. Instead of shaking hands as a greeting, they press noses. If you play your cards right you can press noses with a lady Maori guide named Rangi who once pressed noses with Mrs. Roosevelt.

Korea: People with delicate noses should go to an air-conditioned bar for the summer. Korean air is freighted at times.

Shemya, The Aleutians: Visibility nil. Dewy fog drives men to grog.

Midway: Beware of low-crusing gooney birds; they never change course, not even when outweighed, as in the case of bashing into battleships.

Little America: Seal is eaten, as well as worn.

Zamboanga: Monkeys do, too, have tails here. I saw one swinging from a tree hollering, "Look, Ma, no hands and feet."

PIAA May Change Sports Classes

If Mark Funk has his way, the PIAA will change its method of determining sports classes. As matters stand now, schools with enrollments over 500 are listed as Class A; schools between 250 and 500 are listed as Class B and schools under 250 are listed as Class C. Funk wants to revise those figures in this manner: Class A, 750 and over; Class B, 350-750; and Class C, under 350 . . . The PIAA boss also feels that enrollment figures should be based only on the number of students actually in the school. Under current rules, the top four grades of the school district are used even though most senior high schools are limited to tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades.

Plans to promote an all-star football game between schoolboys in Pennsylvania and Ohio have fallen through. For awhile, the Ohio Coaches Association gave some serious thought to the challenge, but eventually decided against the promotion—at least for this season. Tentative arrangements had been made to play the game in Hershey on August 20 . . . Monessen High's tennis foe today — Latrobe — is a solid favorite to cop WPIAL honors. If the Hounds upset the Cats, they are in a good position to sweep WPIAL laurels in only their second year of competition . . . Jim Pickett, Jeannette's contribution to the West Virginia University football team, missed spring grid drills because of a shoulder operation.

May Have Automatic Pin Setters

There's a good possibility that automatic pin-setters will be available soon for rubber-band duckpins. Up to now, sporting goods producers have been unable to develop a commercial pin-setter for the variety of duckpins most popular in this district. It seems the rubber-band around the pin made ordinary ten-pin setters impractical hereabouts. If the new gadget is ready, look for a tremendous boost in rubberband duckpin bowling. That will mean the sport will no longer have to rely on pin boys. Consequently, alleys will be open from morning until night. The games will also be speeded considerably.

Jim Lenhart, Pitt's quarterback hopeful from Charleroi, had a good day against the Ozarks in Mon Valley League action last Friday, collecting three hits in four trips. Lenhart has slimmed down and is intent upon winning the starting QB assignment. Pitt coaches concede he's the best passer on the team but they claim he's too slow otherwise.

Today's Sports Parade —

Arcaro Has Ability To 'Rate' His Mounts

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Horsemen agree that a jockey's most priceless gift is the ability to "rate" a horse so that he won't wear himself out.

The little man with such a talent is said to "have a stopwatch in his head." All the great ones had it—from Tod Sloan on down the picket line — and the racing fraternity holds that this is the main factor in separating the men from the other mites.

This sense of pace is what made Eddie Arcaro the greatest stakes rider of all time.

There's No Question

Of that there can be no question. Arcaro led the stakes winning jockeys for 10 years. For six straight years, from 1950 through 1955, he scored more stakes triumphs than any other little man in silk.

The major reason, they'll tell you around horse highway, was because of his ability to "rate" a horse.

So Saturday, at old Pimlico, Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons watched as Eddie was boosted aboard Bold Ruler for the Preakness. Then the veteran trainer told him:

"Just let him go, Eddie, don't try to rate him."

He might have added:

"Just be sure you don't fall off."

In Rocking Chair

Because with Eddie sitting up there as if he was in a rocking chair, Bold Ruler took the bit in his teeth and ran the mile and three-sixteenth race all by himself. The colt led from gate to wire and Eddie just held the reins and fetched him a few whacks now and then to keep his mind on his business as Bold Ruler took the run for the black-eyed susans by a fat two lengths.

"It proves that I lost the Kentucky Derby by trying to rate him," Eddie admitted after it was over. "The colt has a tender mouth. When I tried to hold him in at Churchill Downs I hurt him and he simply lost interest and wouldn't run."

Horsemen agree that the ability to "rate" a horse makes a great jockey. But with the likes of Bold Ruler, Arcaro feels like a motorman on an escalator.

Brickner to Attempt Channel

Gus Gets Backers For Swim

Gus Brickner, the 45-year-old steelworker from Charleroi, will have a chance to realize his life-long ambition after all.

Gus announced yesterday that the owners of Spillway Lake, off of Route 51, have agreed to sponsor his attempt to swim the English Channel.

"This is the happiest day of my life," commented Gus after a meeting with Gary P. Thomas and Steve Vicinski, of Brentwood.

"Mr. Thomas and Mr. Vicinski have agreed to back my swim," said Gus. "I plan to leave Pittsburgh by airplane on June 14."

Gus estimated that the Channel attempt will cost "at least" $5,500. It was believed that some of this money will be returned to the backers in the form of endorsement revenues, providing Gus conquers the Channel.

Plan Welcome

Brickner hopes to be in London on the evening of July 15. Reportedly the airline on which he'll travel has arranged a big welcome for him.

The following day, Gus will take a train to Dover, England. From there he will travel by boat to Calais, France, where he'll train for the swim.

Brickner said he is already arranging to have Edward Tenne, the famed English trainer, as his teacher.

Gus figures he'll train at least a month before attempting the Channel. The exact date of the swim will be determined by Channel observers.

"Besides training, I'll have to study the Channel in ever detail," said Gus.

Brickner said the Channel held no fear for him.

Is Confident

"I'll make it or they'll have to drag me out of the water unconscious," said Brickner. "I've already gone further distances in trickier currents," he added.

Brickner is noted mostly for his cold water swimming exploits. He takes a dip in the Monongahela river every day of the year despite the temperature.

However his life-long swimming ambition has been to conquer the Channel. When he reached his 45th birthday earlier in the year, Gus vowed:

"It has to be this year or never since I'm getting older".

A fund was started in Charleroi to finance his attempt. Brickner said that he plans to discontinue that fund now that backers have been obtained.

On Memorial Day, Brickner will appear at Spillway Lake, for a warm-up swim.

Honor PNA Bowling Champs

The Glassport men's team and Bentleyville women's team, respective champions of the district bowling league were honored in California Saturday night during the eighth annual PNA bowling banquet in the California Lodge No. 623.

Approximately 325 attended the fete, at which Adam Tomaszkiewicz, of Chicago, PNA president, was the principal speaker.

Also speaking briefly were: Robert Conaway, California burgess; Jock Tonkavitch, president of the bowling loop; Joseph Kotarski, president of the sponsoring club; Joe Kane, of Erie, Council 72 president; Marion Celmer, of Chicago, council treasurer, and Joseph Swiderski, of Erie, secretary to Judge Blair F. Guenther.

Glassport won over teams from California, Donora, Arnold City, Monessen, Charleroi, Carnegie and Bentleyville in the men's loop.

The Bentleyville women won over Charleroi, Arnold City and Monessen.

Team Shoot at Archery Club

A team shoot featured yesterday's activity at the Charleroi Archery Club.

The results:

Team 1 — Bud Williams, 379; J. Kolessor, 285; W. Michaels, 277; W. Stathers, 239; C. Crow; H. Gainer, 212; and Ray Ludwig, 110. Total 1846.

Team 2 —Garry Anderson, 367; Lou Talsch, 294; Roy Evans, 255; Bliss Hyatt, 214; Frank Creighton, 229; Bill Kent, 183; Bob Frederick, 101; and Roy Maltchell, 75. Totals, 1745.

There will be a twi-light shoot every Wednesday beginning at 6 p. m. sharp.

Next Sunday's shoot will be held at Ruffsdale.

On June 5, the Charleroi Archery Club will hold its annual election of officers.

Little League Fete Set for Wednesday

Jim Russell, former big leaguer from Fayette City, will be the main speaker at the second annual kickoff dinner of the Monessen Little League on Wednesday at 6:30 p. m. in the Slovak Home.

Russell, who broke into the big-time with the Pirates, is currently a scout for the Brooklyn Dodgers. He also played major league ball with the Braves and Dodgers.

Honored guests at the affair will be graduates of the Little League program. They will receive lapel pins.

In all, the banquet is expected to attract 300 persons.

Past Little League presidents Joseph Waggoner and Robert Cina have been invited to attend. So have civic, school and recreation officials.

Preston TM

Thomas Preston, former director of the vocational school, will serve as toastmaster. The invocation and benediction will be by Rev. Lester Drum, pastor of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, whose son played Little League ball last season.

As usual, all parents of the boys are invited to attend.

Tonight at 8 o'clock, League officials will meet in the Civic Center to complete final plans for the banquet.

Brown Ties Meet Record Saturday

Felton Brown, Westminster College's freshman speedster from Monessen, tied a Tri-State Meet record Saturday at Meadville.

Brown was clocked in 21.5 in the 220 yard dash. That established a new Westminster College mark.

Felton also placed first in the 100 yard dash, covering the distance in ten seconds flat.

His two victories paced the Titans to the Meet title. Westminster edged out favored Slippery Rock, 68-61.

Greyhounds Meet Latrobe Today at Mt. Lebanon Court

Monessen High's undefeated tennis team will challenge favored Latrobe today at 2 p. m. in a semi-final match of the WPIAL Tournament at the Mt. Lebanon courts.

In the other semi-final, Mt. Lebanon will meet Wilkinsburg.

Today's survivors will clash on Wednesday for the 1957 crown.

Latrobe, also undefeated, is the early favorite. The Wildcats have the WPIAL singles champion on their roster.

He is Walter Berberich, considered by many as the finest schoolboy netter in the state.

Big Showdown

Joe Kurey, Monessen's own undefeated ace, will meet Berberich in what promises to be an interesting showdown.

Monessen's big hope, of course, rests with Kurey and Jim Baker. Together they formed the championship WPIAL doubles combine.

Latrobe has a slick doubles team of its own in Mark Witkin and Tom Senior.

There's no doubt that Krey and Baker will each play a singles match for MHS, then team in a doubles bout.

The other doubles assignment will be handled by Monessen's Ron D'Angelo and Dennis D'Alessio. These boys are tough to handle when they're right. Unhappily, they've been somewhat inconsistent this season.

Coach Antoinette Valentine will have to get top-flight performances from all of her students to eliminate Latrobe. Most observers feel the job is too tough for the Monessen boys to handle.

At any rate, Kurey and Baker will represent the WPIAL in the state-wide doubles tournament this weekend in Penn State regardless of today's results.

Powers Going Great in Minors

By UNITED PRESS

John Powers, farmed out by the Pittsburgh Pirates to Columbus in the International League only last week, is building a quick reputation as a pesky hitter.

Powers, who had homered for his club's only run in the first game, hit a ninth-inning single in the nightcap Sunday to deprive Havana pitcher Jerry Lane of a no-hitter. Despite Powers' antics, the Sugar Kings swept the doubleheader, 4-1, 1-0, to jump from the cellar into sixth place.

In other games, Richmond held on to first place by nipping Miami, 3-2, after dropping the opener, 5-2; Montreal and Rochester split, 4-2, 3-1, and Buffalo beat Toronto, 8-4.

MFL Campaign For Funds Is Big Success

With $1,094 already in the bank, the current fund-raising drive of the Monessen Midget Football League was hailed as a success today.

The public phase of the campaign was concluded last night during a meeting in the Ravens Club.

Alex Kachmarik, chairman of the drive, described the public solicitation as a great success. He said MFL officials will now concentrate on industryy and clubs.

In all, the league hopes to raise $2,000 to finance construction of a concession stand at Memorial Stadium. In the future, it is estimated that revenue from the stand will be enough to carry on league activities without additional appeals.

Three city organizations also submitted gifts last night. They included Thomas McKee Post, American Legion; Business and Professional Women's Club; and Quota Club.

This week a committee representing the MFL will contact the city's major industries, requesting their support.

While the campaign has been in effect, construction has progressed far ahead of schedule on the concession stand.

Workmen hope to start on the roof sometime this week. By next week, the exterior of the stand will probably be completed.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Shoot for Middle

Whether to play for the pin or for the middle of the green is one of the problems that all golfers continually face on iron shots. Playing for the middle of the green is your best bet.

There are times, of course, when you can go directly for the pin without trouble, even if the shot is slightly off-line. At such times, you should bang it for the pin. But more frequently, going for the pin will endanger the shot, such as when the pin is set behind a gaping sand trap. Then, play for the middle of the green.

The idea here is that you should play within your capabilities. By so doing, you will often find that scoring opportunities come easier. Don't take rash chances unless the situation is desperate. And don't be too quick to read desperation into a situation

More often than not, a steady and sensible line of play will give you a better chance to come out of a seemingly hopeless spot than desperation tactics will.

Reed Eliminated In District VFW Marble Tourney

Philip Reed, Monessen's marble champion, made a quick exist from the district tournament on Saturday.

However Philip had some consolation He'll still be eligible for marble competition next season. With all of his experience, he promises to be a serious threat in 1958.

The district tourney was promoted at Greensburg by the Veterans of Foreign Wars R J Maschetti, District 27 Athletic Officer, was in charge, with Woody Coulter assisting

Reed lost his first match in the double-elimination event to Ronald Caldro of Rillton, the eventual champion. He then bowed to Robert Miller, of Greensburg

The Monessen boy was accompanied to the tournament by Frederic Feldman, the city's tourney director, and Stephen Pfeister, chairman of the Recreation Board.

Caldro eventually defeated Miller in the title match. Also taking part in the tourney was James Bogac, of Herminie.

Nominate Horses For Kent Stakes

STANTON, Del. (UP) — Delaware Park officials announced today that Calumet Farm has nominated Iron Liege, the Kentucky Derby champion; Gen. Duke and Barbizon for the June 1 running of the $25,000-added Kent Stakes and the June 8 renewal of the $35 000 - added Leonard Richards Stakes

Lew Hoad Wins

VIENNA, Austria (UP) — Lew Hoad of Australia won the men's singles title Sunday in Vienna's international tennis tournament by defeating Jaroslav Droby of Egypt, 6,3, 6-3, 6-3. It was the first time Hoad defeated Drobny in six meetings.

Bucs Back to Last Double-Loss Sends

CINCINNATI (UP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates rested today but not on their laurels.

The Bucs took solid possession of last place in the National League Sunday when the league-leading Cincinnati Redlegs took a doubleheader, 8-7 and 5-4.

Tom Acker gained credit for both victories. He picked up his fourth victory of the season in the opener when he pitched to only one batter. He was credited with winning the nightcap after entering the game in the eighth inning

The nightcap loss was Ronnie Kline's fifth without a victory.

The Pirates gave Kline an early 3-0 lead, but the Redlegs picked up one run in the fifth and took the lead 4-3 in the seventh when Smokey Burgess hit a two-run homer and Bob Thurman followed with his third pinch homer of the season.

Tie Score

The Bucs tied the score in their half of the eighth only to see Wally Post tag Kline's second pitch for his fifth round-tripper in the Cincinnati half of the inning

The Pirates staged a ninth-inning rally in the first game to tie the score at 7-7 before Acker replaced Brooks Lawrence and fanned Dick Groat to retire the side. The five-run uprising against Lawrence was climaxed by Bill Virdon's three-run homer, his first of the season.

However, Johnny Temple, who walked, was pushed across with the winning Cincinnati run when Gus Bell and George Crowe singled off of Bob Purkey in the bottom of the ninth.

The Pirates will resume their Western road trip Tuesday night when they play at St Louis.

24 Spots Still Open for '500' Speedway Race

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—Twenty-four positions remained open today for the annual 500-mile Speedway auto race, promising a hectic final two days of qualifications next week end.

Intermittent showers washed out Sunday's time trials, and about four hours of qualifying time was lost by rain Saturday, when only nine drivers managed to complete their four-lap 10-mile tests.

Fastest of the qualifiers was handsome Pat O'Connor, North Vernon, Ind, who roared around the "brickyard" at an average speed of 143 977 m.p.h. to nail down the coveted pole spot in the Memorial Day classic.

Rookie Eddie Sachs, Allentown, Pa., an alternate in last year's "500," was the second fastest qualifier at 143 822 The others, in order of their speeds, were:

Troy Ruttman, Lynnwood, Calif "500" champion in 1952, 142 772, Fred Agabashian, Walnut Creek, Calif, 142 102; Jimmy Reece of Indianapolis, 142 006; Ed Elisian, Oakland, Calif, 141 777. Al Keller, Greenacres, Fla, 141.398, and Elmer George, of Indianapolis, 140.729.

Bold Ruler Is Easy Winner In Preakness

BALTIMORE (UP)—Bold Ruler shaped up today as the horse to beat in next month's Belmont Stakes now that trainer Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons has found a way to ease the pressure on the young colt's tender mouth.

Few persons in the crowd of 32,856 at Pimlico Saturday noticed a piece of cloth tied to the bit in Bold Ruler's mouth when the Wheatley Stable whiz galloped to a two-length victory in the Preakness Stakes. But this strip of gauze played an important role in Bold Ruler's triumph

Because he cut his tongue as a yearling, the son of Nasrullah has been a tough horse to rate. As Fitzsimmons explained, "If you put too much pressure on his mouth, it hurts him."

Narrow Strip

So before the Preakness, Sunny Jim cut a narrow strip of cloth from a leg bandage and tied one end of it to the bit. The string circled Bold Ruler's mouth, holding his tongue in place, and was tied on the outside of the bit.

"It helped take the pressure off his mouth and put it on his jaw," the 82-year-old trainer said

The Belmont, third jewel in the Triple Crown, is the next major objective for Bold Ruler, who blew his chance of scoring a Triple Crown sweep when he was fourth in the Kentucky Derby. But his Preakness triumph smashed all chances of Iron Liege, the Kentucky Derby winner, becoming the ninth horse to win each of the three - year old classics.

No Threat

Iron Liege was lucky to save second place from the fast closing Inside Tract and never was able to threaten Bold Ruler, who was permitted to run all the way with a minimum of pressure on the bit

The Preakness was the seventh stakes triumph for Bold Ruler and the winner's purse of $65 250 increased his lifetime earnings to $396 825

Harrison First In Golf Tourney

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W Va (UP)—E J. (Dutch) Harrison, who has been a professional golfer since 1930, posted "one of the best rounds in my life" in his come-from-behind victory in the Sam Snead Festival tournament

The towering Harrison came through the final round Sunday with a near-record 62—eight under par—to snatch victory by a two-stroke margin.

Deadlocked for second place at 268 were tournament host Sam Snead and the young man who, up to the final round, had threatened to take it all—Paul Harney of Worcester, Mass.

Ben Hogan, hungering to win this one in preparation for the National Open, just didn't have it on the final round. The 45-year-old Texan, his legs tiring and his back ailing, "just didn't play good" and had to take a 71 for a 269 total. This tied him with Peter Thomson of Melbourne, Australia.

Five Fans Hurt At Stock Race

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (UP) — Five persons were injured, one critically, when a stock car crashed over a concrete retaining wall and into a group of spectators during the second annual "Virginia 500" Sunday at the Martinsville Speedway.

Alvin Helsabeck, 10, of Germanton, NC, suffered a fractured skull when he was struck by a piece of concrete knocked from the retaining wall by a car driven by Bill Myers of Germanton.

The other victims were treated for minor injuries. Track officials said they had been "in a section where they had no business."

Cincy, Chisox Widen Leads; Dodgers Win, but Braves Lose

By UNITED PRESS

The Cincinnati Redlegs and Chicago White Sox don't have much in common but it's an academic point today because they're showing only their heels to their chief pennant rivals.

Both opened two-game leads in the major league races Sunday, the Redlegs outslugging the Pittsburgh Pirates, 8-7 and 5-4, and the White Sox scoring a 6-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Tom Acker gained credit for both Cincinnati wins although he hurled a total of 2 1-3 innings in relief He came in to retire one batter in the ninth inning of the opener and was returned the winner when George Crowe's fourth hit drove in Johnny Temple with the winning run in the bottom of the frame In the nightcap, he allowed one unearned run in the last two innings and picked up the victory when Wally Post snapped a 4-4 tie with his eighth-inning homer.

Fischer Paces Chisox

Bill Fischer won his second game for the White Sox although Paul LaPalme came on to hurl the last two innings. Larry Doby knocked in two runs with a double and a homer.

The New York Giants knocked the Milwaukee Braves two full games off the Redlegs' pace with a 6-3 victory and the Brooklyn Dodgers scored seven runs in the ninth to whip the St Louis Cardinals, 10-3, in the other National League games. Philadelphia and Chicago were rained out of a double-header.

The Yankees moved into a second-place tie with the Indians when New York ended Cleveland's five - game winning streak, 6-3, and the Detroit Tigers took over fourth place in the American League with a 6-1 triumph over the Washington Senators. The Baltimore Orioles routed the Kansas City A's, 10-2, and then played a 5½-inning scoreless tie ended by rain

Ray Katt singled with the bases filled in the eighth inning to break a 3-3 tie and enable the Giants' Johnny Antonelli to pick up his third win over his ex-Milwaukee teammates Willie Mays tripled in the sixth to stretch his hitting streak to nine games

Jim Gilliam hit two doubles and five other Brooklyn hits and a walk broke open the Dodgers' close game with the Cardinals Don Newcombe, who hasn't lost to St. Louis in six years, went the distance for the Dodgers to score his third victory. Stan Musial and Wally Moon homered for St Louis

Kucks Rescues Shantz

Johnny Kucks rescued Bobby Shantz in the ninth as the Yankees took advantage of three Cleveland errors and a wind-blown double that started a rally Shantz was aided to his third win by Mickey Mantle's seventh home run. Rocky Colavito had three singles and a homer for the Indians.

Duke Maas, who didn't win a game for Detroit last season, scored his sixth straight with a five-hitter that sent the Senators to their fifth loss in a row and their 16th in 19 games. Charley Maxwell led the Tigers' nine-hit attack with three safeties including a homer. Chuck Stobbs lost his eighth straight decision of this year and his 13th in a row dating back to his last triumph in 1956.

Tito Francona walloped two homers and knocked in five runs to spark the Orioles' attack that gained Billy Loes his third win The nightcap was halted by rain with Hal Brown and Rip Coleman involved in a scoreless duel.

German Seeks 14th Straight Win

NEW YORK (UP) — Heavyweight contender Willi Besmanoff of Germany seeks his 14th consecutive victory tonight in a 10-rounder with veteran Archie McBride at St. Nicholas Arena.

It will be televised by DuMont at 10 30 p.m. e.d t.

Price - checker Eddie Borden quotes Besmanoff the favorite at 13-5 because of his winning string and because unrated McBride of Trenton, N J., hasn't fought this year.

Ozarks Meet Fayette City at Ninth St.; MVL Meeting on Tap

If the weatherman cooperates, the Mon Valley Baseball League will offer a full card of games this evening.

The pace-setting Monessen Ozarks will play host to Fayette City

The Ozarks lost their last outing to Charleroi, 12-6, after romping to four straight wins.

Fayette City has a 3-2 record at the moment and seems to be picking up steam. Thus tonight's game looms as an attractive one.

Other tussles will show Perryopolis at Van Voorhis Donora at at Charleroi and West Newton at New Eagle.

Perry may easily supplant the Ozarks as league leaders tonight. That will happen if Perry beats Van Voorhis while the Ozarks bow to Fayette City.

Meeting Tonight

There will be more than games to spice the MVL excitement tonight Commissioner George Kuvinka has summoned a special meeting at the Monessen Sport Shop beginning at 9 p. m.

All teams must be represented or face the possibility of a fine.

Kuvinka has not hesitated to announce the purpose of the meeting.

"We intend to lay the law down to some of the offending teams in this matter of stalling," said the commissioner. "This isn't a bush league anymore and we can't tolerate unsportsmanlike conduct."

Had Scolded Umps

Kuvinka had earlier scolded umpires for permitting the stall tactics. He instructed them to forfeit games if necessary to end the practice.

Kuvinka rescheduled three postponed games from last week. Tomorrow Monessen will go to New Eagle while Van Voorhis will appear at Charleroi On Thursday, New Eagle will travel to Perryopolis.

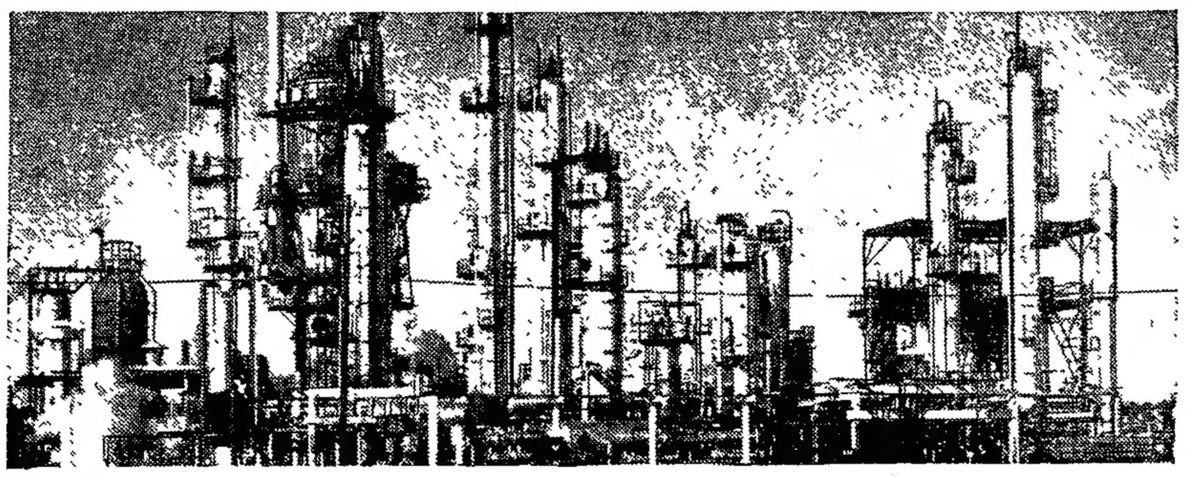
Greater AMOCO-GAS

Greater for every car . . . yet no increase in price!



AGAIN new-car compression ratios and their power needs have set record highs. And, again millions of motorists look to Amoco for maximum premium gasoline power without the use of lead. In response to the growing demand for America's only unleaded premium motor fuel, Amoco now announces the opening of the world's most modern, most advanced gasoline refinery at Yorktown, Virginia.

Amoco's magnificent new Yorktown refinery and new facilities at the present great Texas City refinery make possible Greater Amoco-Gas . . . the highest natural octane gasoline in history, yet available at no increase in price!

Greater Amoco-Gas is the only high-octane gasoline of its kind. Every other premium gasoline, regardless of fancy color, fancy pump or fancy name, is actually a low-octane gasoline artificially boosted to premium rating by lead. But lead doesn't burn! Instead, it leaves fouling deposits on spark plugs, pistons and valves . . . causes pre-ignition and an ever-increasing thirst for more gasoline.

That's why only clear-white, unleaded Greater Amoco-Gas guarantees longer car life . . . no lead fouling . . . greater mileage per gallon than ever before possible . . . 100% power for every car on the road!

Legion Auxiliary in Annual Mother's Day Party Friday

A Mother's Day Party followed the regular meeting of Belle Vernon American Legion Auxiliary to Post 659 on Friday evening. Held in the club room of the Post Home, the meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. Inez Lehew.

Sergeant-at-arms Mary Bashada advanced the colors and prayer was offered by Olive Palfrey, acting chaplain. The group joined in the pledge to the flag and singing of "America" with Adelmina Schmidt at the piano.

Routine reports were heard and a very favorable report given by Mary Ferrari who was in charge of the past month's card parties.

Announcement was made by Mary Ferrari, Poppy chairman, that Saturday, May 25, has been proclaimed Poppy Day. All members are requested to assist and they are also asked to meet at the Legion Home on Friday evening at 6 o'clock for assignments.

A report on the Presidents' Luncheon held at Webster Hall was given by Mrs. Lehew. Mrs Lillie Wells and Olive Palfrey reported on the recent meeting of Tri-County Council at Monongahela and the memorial service.

It was agreed to make a donation to the Mon Valley Pageant fund.

Membership chairman Bertha Arn announced the paid-up membership to date as 290. She also stated that delinquent members must pay their dues immediately in order to have the privilege of voting at the election of officers to be held at the next meeting.

Hondouras Talk

Pan-American chairman Adelmina Schmidt gave a talk on Hondouras.

During the social hour entertainment was provided by Carole Bernardo, who sang five selections. Freda Smith also presented several readings.

Mrs. Frances Nelson was honored as the oldest mother present. She is 94 years of age and it is reported she is also the oldest mother in the American Legion Auxiliary in the state of Pennsylvania. Mrs. Nelson was also honored for having the most grandchildren. Mrs. Norma Seibert was the youngest mother present, Mrs. Palfrey and Mrs. Theresa Oliver, the most children and Mrs. Mabel Stedman, the youngest grandmother.

A poem "Mother" was then read by Olive Palfrey.

Special prizes were awarded to Edith Thot, Freda Smith and Mary Rogowitz

Birthdays were observed by Frances Riskey, Lillian Bogart, Ann Lucas, Rose Teano and Mrs. Rogowitz.

Buffet refreshments were laid on a table centered with an arrangement of Spring flowers. Carnation corsages were given as favors. Mrs. Wells and Mrs. Schmidt presided at the tea table.

Washington Twp. PTA in Meeting

The Washington Township Parent Teacher Association will meet this evening at 6.30 for a dinner session in the social rooms of the Marion Presbyterian Church.

Highlighting the evening will be the installation of officers for the coming year. The teacher to be honored is Miss Bernice Turney, a third grade teacher in the Township schools.

Baccalaureate Held Sunday at Bellmar High

Last night at Bellmar High School auditorium Baccalaureate services were held for the graduating class of 1957. The students in white cap and gown entered to the processional music, "God of Our Fathers" and invocation was by the Rev. D. Earl Daniel, of Fayette City.

A Senior vocal ensemble sang "Just As I Am" and the Rev. James C. Puz, of the First Baptist Church presided and read the scripture lesson. The congregation and chorus joined in the singing of "Fairest Lord Jesus" and the sermon of the evening was delivered by the Rev H. W Beveridge, of Fayette City.

"Love Divine, All Love Excelling" was sung by the chorus and the congregation and then the Senior trip, Carla Butler, Marjean Clark and Elva Corbin sang "Now the Day Is Over". The Rev. Mr. Daniel offered the benediction.

"God of Our Fathers" was the recessional music. The chorus was under the direction of Miss Dorothy Gorio. Providing the accompaniment were Mary Ann Fryske, pianist and a trumpet trio, Barry Stofan, Kenneth Kinik and John Moleski under the direction of Ernest Dolfi.

Commencement ceremonies are scheduled for Wednesday evening at the stadium.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chester, of Baltimore, Md., visited recently with the latter's moiner, Mrs Rhonda Cramer, of Main St.

Mrs. Joseph Baffoni, of Burbank, Cal., formerly of Belle Vernon, is visiting here with local friends

Ladies City Bowling League In Banquet Thursday Evening

Twin Coaches was the scene of the annual banquet of the Ladies City Bowling League on Thursday evening.

Covers were laid for twenty-nine at a large table centered with an arrangement of Spring flowers. Program booklets and corsages of assorted flowers marked each place. The invocation was asked by Helen Costella.

The women honored the winning team which was captained by Ida Picchiarini. Other members of the team were Virginia Razzando, Dolly Biagini, Ann Marcinko, Esther LaPointe, Gilda Gladys and Ann Hook.

Runner-up team, captained by Virginia Layton, included Dorothy Curry, Ann Dubinsky, Della Smith, Joyce Gill, Doreen Wright and Rhoda Miller.

Prizes were awarded to Ida Picchiarini for high average and high three game total; Virginia Razzando, high single game; Ann Youshock, most improved bowler and Gilda Gladys, Rhoda Miller, Ann Nogy, Jackie Johnston and Marty Joseph for perfect attendance.

Guest prizes were won by Olga Miller, Virginia Layton, Della Smith and Ann Youshock.

Andrew Youshock was present as a guest.

Retiring officers were Esther LaPointe, president; Jackie Johnson, vice president and scorekeeper; Henrietta Patrick, treasurer. New officers are Stella Kroskie, president; Sophia Latkanich, vice president and scorekeeper; Gilda Gladys, treasurer.

"THE NEXT FOUR YEARS"

"A Close-up Look at Mayor Parente and his Opponent"

What Kind of A City Do You Want? Your Vote Is Your Answer!

Your Vote Is a Decision for Monessen's Destiny, Not Only for the Next 4 Years, but for Many Years to Come.

Now Let Us Look at an Appraisal of the Two Candidates for Mayor, Compare the Contrast and Decide

Mayor Hugo J. Parente

(1)—is experienced in municipal affairs as an alderman for 6 years and as a mayor for 12 years, and is recognized as one of the best Mayors in the State of Pennsylvania; has received commendaton from the Pennsylvania Economy League for his administrative ability.
(2)—is interested in and is an advocate for civic betterment of Monessen; is an active member of the Chamber of Commerce and a service club, and cooperates fully with all civic and service organizations.
(3)—has appointed, with the consent of Council, outstanding nonpartisan citizens on municipal commissions and boards, and seeks the advisory counsel of solid citizens.
(4)—has the "FORWARD LOOK" for a progressive Monessen, and stays abreast and ahead of the times;
(5)—has made great strides and accomplishments for the City of Monessen, because of his administrative ability and statewide and national reputation.
(6)—has helped countless people with their problems and needs for the past twenty years and has always had an open door policy for the public.
(7)—has served the Democratic party for the past twenty years as a worker, has participated in every Primary and General Election in behalf of Democratic candidates for Municipal, County, State and National offices, and is recognized as one of the outstanding Democratic leaders in the State of Pennsylvania.
(8)—has proven that he is a real friend of labor, whose creed is to treat all people alike, regardless of race, color or creed.
(9)—has a progressive platform, approved by civic and business organizations.

His Opponent

(1)—has no experience whatsoever in municipal affairs; has never held an elective office nor served on any appointive boards or commissions.
(2)—does not belong to any service club and has no civic record whatsoever in the City of Monessen, although the opportunity to serve has always been present.
(3)—receives his entire knowledge of municipal affairs from a "crystal gazing prophet" of doom and depression—an irresponsible master of innuendos and half-truths, whose platform for municipal government is couched in illegality, ignorance and ineptness.
(4)—has nothing to offer but destructive criticism; looks backward instead of forward; has slogans and ideas which were old ten years ago.
(5)—could not get anything done for the City of Monessen during his 4 years if elected, because of his lack of adminstrative ability and inexperience.
(6)—has changed his party affiliation six times from Republican to Democrat and from Democrat to Republican; has never been active for anyone on the Democratic ticket, and shows political interest only when he is a candidate and only in himself; bitterly opposed Democratic candidates for Governor and President.
(7)—has a vague platform of reaction and inertia; offers only criticism; wants to run the City of Monessen, but still owes the City of Monessen the sum of $880.50, plus interest, for a street lien filed against his home on February 7, 1952, at Municipal Lien No. 16584 MLD.

THESE ARE JUST A FEW OF THE CONTRASTS BETWEEN THE TWO CANDIDATES FOR MAYOR . . . THERE ARE COUNTLESS MORE. THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THE TWO IS LIKE DAY AND NIGHT.

THEREFORE, IF YOU WANT A FORWARD, PROGRESSIVE MONESSEN FOR THE NEXT 4 YEARS . . .

Vote for HUGO J. PARENTE

IF YOU WANT A BACKWARD AND DO NOTHING 4 YEARS FOR THE CITY OF MONESSEN . . . VOTE FOR HIS OPPONENT.

THE CHOICE is YOURS. MONESSEN needs PARENTE for MAYOR

Pineau Arrives Here To Reopen Dispute In UN Over Suez Canal

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UP) — French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau arrives here today to reopen the entire Suez Canal dispute in the United Nations Security Council this afternoon.

Arab nations called the French move a "provocation" that would raise new tensions in the Middle East and Egyptian sources accused France of reviving the issue in a desperate effort to save the government of Premier Guy Mollet.

Before leaving Paris by plane Pineau said France's intention was simply to force the United Nations to clarify its position on the "one-man operation" of the canal since France does not consider the present status as definite.

Egypt, which is counting on the Soviet veto to protect it from any anti-Egyptian moves, took the position that France's move was a "desperae attempt to increase Middle East tension" and enable France to "divert attention from its internal weakness."

Egyptian sources also accused France of conspiring with Israel to send an Israeli ship to the Suez Canal Zone "in order to provoke Egypt." Official spokesmen insisted that Egypt would not permit passage of an Israeli ship.

A Jerusalem dispatch indicated Israel would uphold any test until after the Security Council debate. But the dispatch said the Israeli ship Athlit was en route to the port of Eilat via the Gulf of Aqaba which Arab nations also have declared closed to Israeli shipping.

French sources indicated France would seek to have the Security Council reaffirm that the canal must be operated under the six principles laid down by the council last fall before the three-nation invasion of Egypt. Chief of these was the insulation of the canal from domestic politics. Another is non-discrimination against the shipping of any nation.

More Money Is Needed for Youth Care, Leader Says

HARRISBURG (UP) — The Governor's Committee on Children and Youth reported today "adequate and, in some cases, increased appropriations" were needed to combat juvenile delinquency in the state.

The report said new and expanded facilities in education, prevention, law enforcement, juvenile court and treatment must be organized to meet "pressing needs."

Gov. George M. Leader said the report "particularly emphasizes what I have long felt, that Juvenile delinquency is a problem of human welfare which can only be solved by a partnership between the state and the communities so that the resources of the state and local official and private agencies may be used in the efforts to deal with this important and perplexing problem."

The report urged the reimbursement program to counties for their child care services be doubled during the 1957-59 biennium to four million dollars. The committee also suggested establishment of a forestry camp for delinquents near Philadelphia and of a state owned training school to serve eastern Pennsylvania.

FIND BOY ALIVE AFTER 24 HOURS IN WELL-SHAFT — Seven-year-old Benny Hooper, trapped for 24 hours in a narrow well-shaft near his home at Manorville, N. Y. was found alive by rescuers in the miracle that was not expected to happen. The boy was hospitalized and reported in good condition. At top, Benny Hooper, Jr. (arrow) is lifted from the well-shaft on a stretcher by rescue workers. He had been trapped 21 feet below after falling in while playing leapfrog in the backyard of his home. The first man to reach Benny at the bottom of the well was Sam Woodson (top, right). He is shown being given oxygen after he collapsed on reaching the surface. The other photo of Woodson was taken as he was interviewed. At bottom, Benjamin Hooper sits at the bedside of his son, Benny Jr., resting in an oxygen tent at a hospital.

Benny Hooper Well on Road to Recovery; Is Out of Danger

MANORVILLE, N. Y. (UP) — Seven-year-old Benny Hooper who survived a 23½-hour entrapment in the bottom of a one-foot wide well shaft, today was reported out of danger and well on the road to recovery.

Week-end X-rays showed that the sandy-haired 55-pound youngster was suffering from a simple inflammation of the right lung and inflammations of the bronchial tubes and the sinuses. In addition, he was under treatment for a nerve injury of the left arm.

But doctors indicated that the slender, blue-eyed boy, whose entombment in the dark damp well shaft touched off a 24-hour long drama, would be able to leave Bayview Hospital in Mystic Beach by the week end.

Looks Good, Lively

"He looks good and is very lively," said Dr. J. H. Kris, the physician who has attended Benny since his fall into the well Thursday evening. Kris who supervised the pumping of oxygen into the narrow hole throughout Benny's entrapment, said the boy would remain in an oxygen tent until the spot on his lung—a little larger than a dime—disappears. Doctors described the lung infection as pneumonitis, a mild form of pneumonia.

Surrounded by toys and get-well telegrams from friends and anonymous well-wishers, Benny still was not permitted to sit up, except for meals — and then only when supported by nurses. Doctors emphasized however that this was a precautionary measure. The wide-eyed youngster doctors noted, was well-enough Sunday to devour a milk shake some chocolate pudding and cereal, in addition to a variety of snacks.

With his temperature at 102.8 degrees Saturday night, doctors feared that complications might set in jeopardizing his recovery.

Sunday, however, the boy's temperature dropped to 100 degrees at 9 p.m., then to 99 this morning.

Tells About Ordeal

Doctors, nurses, the boy's parents and other visitors avoided discussing the terrifying ordeal. But not Benny.

"I was mad down there. I was gritting my teeth. I was swearing," he told his mother. "I could feel the sand between my teeth."

The child's father, Benjamin Hooper Sr., who dug the well that trapped his son, expressed his thanks for money contributions that reached the hospital. But he said they will be returned wherever possible.

"I intend to return all money we receive," he said. "I've paid my medical bills before and I'll do it this time. I thank these people but we can't take their money."

Mother Charged in Murder

HARRISBURG (UP)—The district attorney' office today considered a sanity test for a young mother accused of murdering her infant son by throwing him down a 62-foot well.

District Attorney Huette F. Dowling of Dauphin County said he would confer with State Police Sgt. Joseph L. Pochyba of the Lykens barracks concerning a possible examination of Mrs. Carrie B. Schmick, 21, Lykens.

Pochyba said Mrs. Schmick has remained silent since her arrest Saturday in the death of her 2-year-old son, Michael, who was found in 10 feet of water in the well. She was held in Dauphin County jail here.

Authorities were called after the victim's sister, Vickie, 4, ran into the house and told her grandmother, Mrs. Anna R. Schmick, 51, that the mother "threw Mike into the well."

Pochyba said Mrs. Schmick, barefoot and clad in black jeans and a woolen shirt, was found sitting on a log in a wooded area near her home.

The state police officer said an investigation disclosed the mother had not been hospitalized in mental institutions as reported to him by the children's grandmother.

Five Day Forecast

Western Pennsylvania Temperature will average near normal north and two to four degrees above normal south portion. Moderately cool Tuesday. Warmer Wednesday. Turning cooler Thursday and warmer again by Saturday. Showers late Wednesday and Thursday and again about Saturday. Total rainfall around one inch.

Conferences on Potter Center

HARRISBURG (UP) — The Welfare Department will hold conferences this week at Pennsylvania State University preparatory to reopening the migrant child care center in Potter County.

Under an agreement, the university provides staff and direct service through its department of child development while the Welfare Department contributes the funds and services of social workers.

The greatest concentration of migrant workers in Pennsylvania in recent years has been in Potter County. Last year the center cared for the children of 2,400 workers in the county, daily, six days a week.

FELLOW VOTERS

As a member of the Westmoreland County Bar for the past 25 years, I have been in close contact, both professionally and socially, with all the candidates for Judge of the Court of Common Pleas. I am in a position to advise my many friends why I am supporting JUDGE EDWARD G. BAUER and L. ALEXANDER SCULCO.

JUDGE EDWARD G. BAUER is completing a full ten year term as Judge, and I have been in his Courtroom while he was presiding in all types of cases. Judge Bauer has been eminently fair, humane and courteous. He is always available to the lawyers and public and has never missed a day on the bench. In his 9½ years on the bench, Judge Bauer has taken only a two weeks vacation. He has presided continuously in Juvenile Court and has done much to curb juvenile delinquency. He has always been very fair to LABOR. If re-elected he will become President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Westmoreland County. Upon the death of the late Judge George H. McWherter, and the retirement of Judge Richard D. Laird, only Judge John M. O'Connell will remain on the Bench as an experienced Jurist. For these and many other reasons, I recommend very highly the renomination and re-election of JUDGE EDWARD G. BAUER.

Having served as an Assistant District Attorney under L. ALEXANDER SCULCO for the past 7½ years, I have been in a position to observe his humility, humanity, courtesy, capability and fairness. He possesses judicial temperment and ability. I know that he would treat all people impartially regardless of race, color or creed. He is a family man and is very active in church affairs. His experience as an able civil lawyer and his affiliation with the District Attorney's Office for the past twenty years highly qualify him to serve as our Judge. I recommend him most highly for nomination and election to the Court of Common Pleas of Westmoreland County.

I am soliciting all my friends, regardless of how they are registered, to vote for JUDGE EDWARD G. BAUER and L. ALEXANDER SCULCO.

Appreciatively yours,
Attorney David H. Weiss

The Election Day 'DOUBLE CROSS'

"WHO" on Parente's "SLATE" will be DOUBLE CROSSED and thrown to the "SHARKS"? The MANY slate candidates will be double crossed for STRONGER candidates. WHEN this DOUBLE CROSS comes ARE "YOU" VOTERS going to FALL for this TRICK which is "SPONSORED" by Mayor Parente and his cohorts? They are VICIOUS and MERCILESS. They stop at NOTHING to "GAIN" their OBJECTIVES. They HAVE DONE IT in the "PAST". "WHY" can't they DO IT "AGAIN". They will tell "YOU" that the "DOUBLE CROSSED" candidates are "WEAK", yet in my opinion MAYOR PARENTE is the "WEAKEST" candidate on "HIS" SLATE. The Mayor realizes that "HE" has "SLIPPED" so BADLY in the last TWELVE years that HE has GONE ON FOOT from house to house all over Monessen pleading on "HIS" OWN behalf. HE HAS "NEVER" DONE this BEFORE! In the past two weeks, HE has HIRED a CREW of women who are calling on "YOU" VOTERS to vote for the Mayor "ONLY". "HE" has FORGOTTEN the "SLATE". "HE" has some of "HIS" FRIENDS PREACHING the "STRAIGHT" ITALIAN ticket. Yes, the Mayor is VERY "WORRIED" about himself SLIPPING THAT he has FORGOTTEN the SLATE, (or) "IS" HE "REALLY" going to DUMP weak candidates for other stronger candidates?

The Mayor "NOW" realizes that a "FOURTH" term is "HARD" to get, because HE has made many enemies, made many blundering mistakes, and he has "MANY" broken promises which he did not fulfill in the last TWELVE (12) years.

"MONEY" will be "THROWN" in ABUNDANCE on May 21st. I am advising "YOU" PEOPLE TO TAKE "ALL" they offer, BUT "VOTE" for candidates who will give you a good administration that "YOU" WILL NEVER REGRET.

HAVE "YOU" HEARD about WINNING on recounts after LOSING by a "SUBSTANTIAL" margin? About the "GHOST" votes? BEWARE of FRAUD TRICKS on the VOTING MACHINES. BE SURE the levers are "ALL" the way "DOWN".

WASN'T it Parente WHO DOUBLE CROSSED the DEMOCRATIC PARTY to stop a State investigation in Westmoreland County by the State Attorney General by LAYING "LOW" on (Democrat) DILWORTH and permitting Gov. Fine to WIN so that the investigation would be held up? DO you remember McWherter-Best, and other Republican candidates? WHO laid low when Senator Myers (the labor senator) was running for re-election? Yes, Parente can and does "HELP" REPUBLICANS directly or indirectly as a political opportunist to satisfy "HIS" OBJECTIVES.

WERE'T Judge Bauer, Francis Crum and "MANY" others, Republicans? THEY CHANGED to Democrats to get JOBS! ISN'T it TRUE that MONESSEN had ONLY ABOUT (TEN) DEMOCRATS in 1930 and the REST of the people were Republican? WASN'T MR. CRUM, chairman of the Republican Party?

Beware of Parente's heavily "PAID" propagandists who are now going from house to house in their last "DEPERATE" effort to get votes for "ONLY" the Mayor! "WHY"?

I have accused him of "MANY" blundering mistakes, etc. SILENCE on the part of the Mayor means that everything I have accused him of IS THE TRUTH. Parente has avoided large open rallies because he does not want the public STIRRED UP over his BLUNDERS. We have the facts and figures, and figures do not "LIE"! Parente AVOIDED debates with EVERY candidate "FOUR" years ago! WHY? They smeared me with "PAID" false propaganda on the bus terminal site and other issues, and now I'M (BACK) GIVING IT BACK TO HIM. "YOU" can't FOOL the people "TWICE" on the SAME issues and more recent blunders. Parente is trying to "COVER UP" his BLUNDERING MISTAKES under "HIS" SMILE! "WAKE UP" before it's too late. "YOU'RE going to pay "HEAVILY" for this LATER.

DON'T make it "SIXTEEN" years of Parente's "EXPERIENCED" BLUNDERS and STOP BEING the CITY BEHIND.

Britons Discover They Have Racial Problem of Their Own

By ANNE GILBERT

LONDON (UP) — Britons, long critical of America's approach to the racial problem, have discovered with a shock that they have a color problem of their own.

Postwar immigration to England from the British commonwealth and empire areas has built up the colored population to a point where racial friction is now a fact.

Home Secretary R. A. Butler has admitted in the House of Commons that Ku Klux Klan sympathizers are organizing in Britain.

It was a sobering disclosure in a nation which banned slavery in 1806, reacted with revulsion to America's toleration of slavery before the Civil War and to this day holds together a commonwealth of men of all shades.

Produces Quick Reaction

The birth of discrimination here produced a quick reaction. Newspapers warned against any burning of fiery crosses. A local Socialist Party in London nominated a West Indian as its candidate for Parliament. Socialist Fenner Brockway, son of British missionary to India, introduced the nation's first anti-discrimination bill.

It is mainly from Britain's West Indian possession that the influx has come. They are citizens of the British Commonwealth and thus there are no restrictions on entry. The situation parallels the problem of Puerto Ricans flooding into New York City.

The Caribbean natives come to Britain by the boatload—400 persons last week. They tend to settle together with others from their island. They arrive with only 10 pounds ($28), all the law allows them to bring.

In 1951 there were 13,000 West Indians in England. Today there are 80,000. Three-fourths of them are unskilled workers.

Top officials of the British Trades Union Congress oppose discrimination, but have not been able to prevent incidents.

Protectionist Miners

The West Indians have not been able to crash into white collar or mining jobs. British miners are traditionally protectionists and put the same ban on Hungarian refugees and Italian migrants. But according to a West Indian welfare service official, prejudice alone keeps colored men and women out of office jobs.

Signs of segregation have become more evident. Real estate agents will note in their windows, "No Colored Persons."

Back in 1954 the trouble already had started, chiefly in industrial Birmingham, where the phrase "Keep Britain White" was scrawled on walls and British drivers tried — unsuccessfully—to keep Negroes from driving buses.

In Sheffield this month white bus drivers threatened to strike to protest the hiring of colored bus conductors.

The problem has become more acute due to Britain's economic difficulties since the Suez crisis. In January 10 per cent of London's 28,000 colored emigrants were unemployed. British workers are tending to say, "hire white men first."

Giant Step of Economy

WASHINGTON (UP)—The congressional drive to cut President Eisenhower's budget takes a giant step forward this week. A House appropriations subcommittee is expected to recommend slicing $2,500,000,000 from the President's $36,200,000,000 defense request.

Subcommittee Chairman George H. Mahon (D-Tex.) said his group will recommend defense cuts Tuesday which are "in the public interest."

"The people have demanded more economy and more efficiency in all branches of the government," he said. But in making the cuts, he added, "we have sought not to cut the fighting edge of our forces."

Mahon, appearing Sunday on a television program filmed for New York stations, did not specify the size of cuts the subcommittee will make.

But subcommittee sources have said the reductions will amount to about $2,500,000,000 — by far the biggest single slash in the President's budget to date — despite a warning from Eisenhower that the nation faces "terrible consequences" if his defense budget is "materially" reduced.

Eisenhower Tuesday night will make his second radio-television defense of his budget. He will try to rally public support behind his record $71,800,000,000 peacetime budget in general and his foreign aid program in particular.

Reds Worried About U.S. Missiles

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Communists are far from being "ringed" with U.S. guided missiles today. But Moscow's anguished cries indicate that the Reds know the U.S. program is gathering momentum rapidly.

Recent straws in the wind:

—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's statement to newsmen that missiles similar to those stationed in Europe are under consideration for our forces in South Korea.

—Official announcement that Matador guided missiles are slated for "future stationing" in Formosa.

—The Anglo-American agreement that intermediate range ballistic missiles will be supplied to Britain when available.

—U.S. announcement that Matador and Honest John bombardment missiles and Nike air defense missiles are being programmed for North Atlantic Treaty countries. Delivery dates were not specified.

The increasing tempo of missile armament has brought a whole series of threats from Russia against NATO countries, seeking to dissuade them from allowing U.S. missile installations to be set up. And Red China contends that stationing of Matadors on Formosa will not alter her determination to "liberate" the island.

The U.S. Air Force has five Matador groups. Three comprise the 701st Tactical Missile Wing with headquarters at Hahn, Germany. Two are at Orlando Air Force Base, Fla., and one or both of the Orlando groups presumably will go to Formosa.

Leader Warns Budget Cuts Can Stop Programs

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader warned today that proposed budget cuts by the Republican-controlled Legislature may lead to "the immediate and complete abandonment" of the state's park expansion program and "materially affect" its bid for new industry.

The governor said reports from Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, secretary of forests and waters, revealed that any "substantial" cut in his department's appropriation would necessitate cancellation of 13 park projects throughout the state.

Leader said industries seeking sites place good park and recreational facilities "high on their list for selecting their plant sites."

In addition, he said possible elimination of engineering and design work on flood control projects may follow budget cuts.

Strickler Plans To Quit May 31

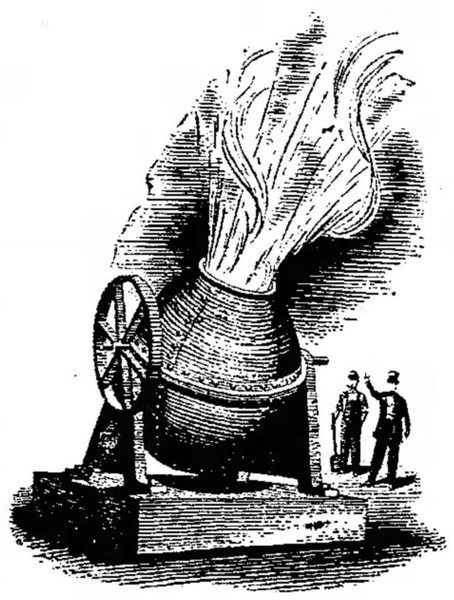
STILL GROWING

Steel begins a new Century



Total annual steel production in the United States a century ago was less than 10,000 tons. In 1956, the total was 115,200,000 tons.

It's 100 years since two men — Henry Bessemer in England and William Kelly in Kentucky—came forth with a process that enabled men to make steel by the ton instead of by the pound.

These two men could not possibly have foreseen the miracles steel has wrought in the years since. . . . No more can we today accurately foresee what steel may contribute to man's progress in the century ahead.

This much we do know. Quantity production of steel touched off a succession of improvements in our way of life — stretching from the early steel plows and reapers that revolutionized agriculture down to the cyclotrons that smashed the atom.

At every step steel has made more things, better things, available to more people — keeping abreast of the rising population and the ever-improving standards of living.

* * * * *

Steelworkers, too, have grown rapidly—in numbers, in earnings, in stature.

Jobs in steel are good jobs. As the industry expands, there will be progressively better jobs. . . . more good jobs in steel and other industries before steel's second century is very far along.

No Surge in Steel

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP) — An expected surge in steel buying to beat a price increase due July 1, thus far has failed to materialize Steel Magazine said today.

Demand continues at the slower rate that has marked the past few months in steel production, the metalworking publication said.

However, Steel said the belief persists that substantial hedge buying will be done by consumers, especially the larger interests over the next few weeks.

"It should result in a noticeable bulge in June specifications," Steel said.

It is generally believed that steel prices will rise at midyear to offset increases in wages and fringe benefits to become effective July 1.

"Just how much prices will rise is anybody's guess," the magazine commented.

"Some steelmakers estimate their costs will be hiked at least 20 cents an hour by the wage boost. This, they say, should mean a price increase of at least $8 a ton. A question to keep in mind: Will the pace of demand influence the extent of increases?"

Sluggish buying continued to affect steel production last week. The industry operated at 86.5 per cent of capacity, down one-half point from the previous week.

Production during April fell to 89.5 per cent as compared to an overall average of 94.4 for the first four months.

April production was 9,814,000 tons, making the first quarter production total 41,399,042 tons.

The Chief Executive told Robertson that the U. S. and Canada have created "an atmosphere of trust and undersanding" in dealing with issues and questions that arise.

Ingrid Denies Rumors

PARIS (UP)—Actress Ingrid Bergman, who gave up her home, her family and her career to marry Roberto Rossellini scoffed today at reports he planned to divorce her and wed the wife of an Indian film director.

"I think the whole thing is made up," she said. "Somebody started this whole thing and now it is blowing up out of all proportions. I think someone is trying to hurt my husband."

Asked if reports were true that Rossellini is living in Bombay with Mrs. Sonali Das Gupta, a beautiful 27-year-old model and mother of two small boys, Miss Bergman said, "I don't think there is much truth to it."

She said she first heard the gossip from Rossellini himself during frequent telephone conversations with her 51-year-old husband who has been in India for some time. She said Roberto told her someone is trying to hurt him.

Miss Bergman, who is starring in the Paris production of the play "Tea and Sympathy", said, "You can see I'm not taking those reports very hard and I'm quite relaxed about it."

Dispatches from India said Mrs. Das Gupta had separated from her husband, Hari Das Gupta, who directed the movie "The Ribu." She is in Bombay where Rossellini is visiting and Das Gupta is in Calcutta.

Italy Gets New Cabinet Today; Crisis Is Ended

ROME (UP)—Italian President Giovanni Gronchi swears in a new cabinet today with hopes it may see the nation through to next year's elections despite its minority status.

The 20-member cabinet, formed by Premier-designate Adone Zoli, is made up entirely of Christian Democrats. But it is carefully balanced between the left and right wings of the party.

To survive even the Senate confidence vote scheduled for May 29, Zoli's government must depend on at least "benevolent abstention" from other factions in Parliament.

Yet political observers expect Zoli's one - party government to survive. Opposition factions fear the only alternative would be premature parliamentary elections for which they are not yet ready.

The 69-year-old premier's announcement of his cabinet ended a two-week government crisis that started when Premier Antonio Segni resigned May 6. Segni's 22-month-old government collapsed when two parties pulled out of his four-party central coalition

You Can Eat Your Way into A Heart Attack, Doctor Says

By LOUIS CASSELL

WASHINGTON (UP) — You can eat your way into a coronary, a leading heart specialist said today, with "any kind of diet that contains too many calories."

It's getting fat, and not merely eating fat, that builds up the cholesterol deposits on the walls of your arteries and invites coronary heart disease, said Dr. Sidney Dack, retiring president of the American College of Cardiology.

Dack a cardiologist at New York's Mount Sinai Hospital and editor of the American Journal of Cardiology, acknowledged in an interview that laymen have every right to be "confused" by the conflicting statements that have emanated from medical researchers recently about the relation between diet and heart trouble.

Don't Wait

But you don't have to wait until medical scientists reach 100 per cent agreement before you start eating sensibly, he said.

"There is definite evidence that plain overeating — taking in too many calories of all types and gaining weight—is a very important factor in increasing your chances of coronary heart disease."

Holding your total calorie intake to a moderate level is at least as important as controlling your consumption of any particular food such as fats."

Heart disease now is the major cause of death in this country. It claims more than 800,000 victims a year. While there are many types of heart disease, one of the most prevalent is atherosclerosis.

In recent years many scientists have concluded that a primary cause of atherosclerosis is the accumulation in the walls of the arteries of undigested particles of cholesterol. This is a fatty substance which is found in many foods and which also is produced in the body itself by the liver and other organs.

Thousands of autopsies have confirmed the presence of thick cholesterol deposits in the arteries of heart attack victims.

Experts Divided

Even among the authorities who accept the proposition that high cholesterol intake is a main cause of atherosclerosis, there is sharp division about which types of fat are most harmful.

Dack for example does not believe there is any validity to the widely-publicized theory that vegetable fats (such as oleomargarine) are "safer" than animal fats (such as butter).

His strongest conviction, however, is that these scientific arguments are no excuse for the average person to shrug off the whole problem of diet and heart disease as something on which the doctors can't make up their minds.

"From a purely practical point of view," he said, "the important thing to keep in mind is that the body can manufacture cholesterol out of any type of food, not merely out of fats.

"If you eat too much sugar, proteins and carbohydrates, you are asking for trouble even if you are consciously avoiding what you consider to be fatty foods."

WHY THE BOAT?

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (UP)— A motorist with a boat on top of his car said he was stopped Sunday by a sheriff's deputy with a sense of humor. He said the officer wanted to know whether, in view of the heavy rainfall of the past few days the man was going fishing or just preparing for an emergency.

IT'S TIME For A CHANGE!

"THE MAYOR'S INSULT"

THE PRESENT MAYOR HAS HIT A NEW LOW!! NOW HE WANTS CREDIT FOR BUILDING OUR HOMES AND OUR CHURCHES. THIS IS AN INSULT TO THE PEOPLE OF MONESSEN.

HE CANNOT HONESTLY CLAIM ONE WORTHY ACCOMPLISHMENT OF HIS OWN.

THE ONLY PROGRESS HE CAN BOAST OF IS HIS OWN . . . HIS EXTRA $11,000 STATE JOB AND HIS SIDE BUSINESSES.

WE NEED A FULL-TIME MAYOR WHO WILL WORK FOR MONESSEN, NOT A WEEK-END MAYOR.

(Political Advertisement)

A "SMALL" MAN

The Mayor's job is an important job.

When he uses the office as a club over individuals and organizations; when he regards every service performed by the City as a personal favor by him; when he feels it is his privilege to threaten people including our City employees; when he has the ridiculous idea that no one should dare differ with him—that man is SMALL and should not be Mayor of Monessen.

Let's Stop the Present Mayor's Political Tampering

WITH OUR

SCHOOL SYSTEM

IT HAPPENED HERE!

FROM THE DAILY INDEPENDENT, NOVEMBER 13. 1953

"Whoever tampered with the ballots in the First Precinct of Monessen's Second Ward after last wee's election apparently was trying to help Mayor Hugo J. Parente. Some of the ballots had been altered to give illegal votes to Mayor Parent."

FROM THE DAILY INDEPENDENT, MAY 24, 1954

"6 GUILTY IN VOTE CASE"

Return Verdicts Against Former Election Officials

"A Westmoreland County jury late Saturday night returned verdicts of guilty against six of the seven men involved in an election scandal here last November."

Whether we realize it or not, the most important right we, as Americans, have is the right to honest elections. It is the only protection we have.

PARENTE'S WHITE ELEPHANT

THE $350,000 PARKING PLAZA BLUNDER

The PARENTE-CONTROLLED Parking Authority has burdened the taxpayers of Monessen for years to come. In fact at the present rate the Plaza will NEVER pay for itself and will cost the taxpayers thousands of dollars in interest on the $350.000 loan.

HERE ARE the DISADVANTAGES of the PLAZA — ASK ANBODY! 1.—Bad engineering . . . half of the plaza can hardly be used because of difficulty in entering and leaving. 2.—Bad location, loss of much-needed business space. 3—Traffic congestion. On the day it is busy, extra policemen are need to keep traffic moving. This is wasteful spending of tax.

A WARNING!

In the near future, a sewage disposal system and plant will have to be built in Monessen Estimated cost: $1,000.000. The interest alone on this debt will cost the people of Monessen approximately $40,000 a year. In addition there will be maintenance costs and payments on the debt. We need to be careful

We can't afford more blunders!

When the sewage disposal plant was first considered, the present Mayor tried to push through a $1 000.000 bond issue WITHOUT competitive bidding which was contrary to law Why?

SENECA HOLLOW

In the winter, during icy weather Seneca street is the only passable, connecting link between the downtown section of Monessen and Grand Boulevard Why hasn't the present Mayor paved this street?

It is also common knowledge that the sewer in Seneca Hollow is grossly inadequate A leader with any foresight would have seen the need for a larger sewer there Instead in addition to the original cost, we now must face the cost of tearing it up and building an adequate sewer. Assembly To Tackle Budget

HARRISBURG (UP)—The General Assembly will reconvene Wednesday after Pennsylvania's primary to tackle appropriations, in the face of a warning by Gov. George M. Leader that any "meat axing" of his budget would cause "irreparable damage to the state."

The Republican leader were scheduled to unveil the extent of the cuts in the governor's $1,604,000,000 budget, which they had previously promised to slash by 100 million dollars in a "hold-the-line" policy against imposition of any new taxes.

Rep. Norman Wood (R-Lancaster), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said in a weekend statement that the GOP fiscal program will actually increase funds for health, welfare, education and public assistance by 151 million dollars over current biennial expenditures.

But they were expected to be well under the governor's requests for those departments for the 1957-59 fiscal period.

Wood indicated the budget will total $1,499,000,000—about 105 million dollars less than that recommended by the governor. Included in that amount will be 80 million dollars in deficit appropriations.

The governor said that cuts now proposed by the Republican leadership would "not serve the cause of true economy, far from it." He said he did not believe meny of the legislators were "for reckless meat axing" of fund supported programs.

The Senate will return Wednesday at 4 p.m. edt and the House a half hour later.

Leader Blasts GOP Tactics on State Budget

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader today termed Republican legislative leaders' decision not to unveil the GOP version of the state budget until next Wednesday "a calculated hit-run tactic."

Leader blasted the super-secret sessions at which the GOP has worked out reported major cuts in the administration's budget, pointing out that neither the public nor the governor, nor the Democratic minority in the General Assembly have been taken "into their confidence."

Concerning the decision to postpone disclosure of the GOP budget plans until this week, Leader said

"As part of this carefully contrived strategy, they have delayed this decision until this week—so that the people will have almost no time in which to determine the facts and raise their voices against this undermining of their security, hopes and well-being.

"I repeat: any onslaught against this budget is an onslaught against the people of Pennsylvania themselves."

Takes Day Off, But Doesn't Rest

ORAN, Algeria (UP) — French army fireman M. Sanchez took a week-end vacation from his job of rescuing persons from burning buildings. On the first day of his vacation at the beach he rescued a French soldier caught in an offshore undertow. Then Sunday he rescued a man and his two daughters who swam out too far from shore.

WORST FLOOD COVERS PARTS OF OKLAHOMA — In North Central Oklahoma, near Dover, heavy rains followed by floods have inundated the lowlands, forcing residents to evacuate to high ground. On the left, freight train cars dip into the flood waters.

Rampaging Rivers Turn Parts Of Oklahoma into Vast Sea

Rampaging rivers that turned parts of Oklahoma into a vast sea during the week end receded today, and authorities counted damages in the state's "greatest disaster" at about 25 million dollars.

The Arkansas River, in its worst flood in history, spared the city of Tulsa Sunday when it began subsiding after cresting about one foot above the 19-foot flood stage.

Residents who had moved to higher ground in anticipation of a crest seven feet above flood stage, returned to their homes with the aid of National Guard and commercial trucks.

The river overflowed downstream at Bixby, forcing some 1,000 residents to flee, but many of them were able to move back by nightfall.

State Civil Defense Director Tom Breit termed the floods Oklahoma's "greatest disaster." He estimated damage to farms and other private property at $17,835,000. Highways, bridges and roads suffered an estimated seven million dollars in damage.

A United Press count showed at least 33 persons have been killed in weather-caused accidents since Wednesday when a tornado slammed into Silverton, Tex. There were 22 dead in Texas, 9 in Oklahoma and 2 in Kansas.

At Stockton, Calif., Army and civilian helicopters were scheduled to take part in an attempt to dry out the rain-soaked central California cherry crop.

The copter blades will be used to fan the orchards in hopes of preventing mildew on the ripening fruit.

GOP Budget To Give More For Welfare

HARRISBURG (UP) — The Republican Legislative leadership contended today that the GOP budget which will be disclosed next week hikes appropriations for health, welfare, education and public assistance, by 151 million dollars over current biennial expenditures.

House Appropriations Committee Chairman Norman Wood (R-Lancaster) said the increases will be divided in this manner: education, $122,800,000; health and welfare, $21,400,000; public assistance, $7,800,000.

Wood said other increases totaling 25 million dollars will be allocated for other state government functions. According to his statement the budget will aggregate $1,499,000,000 — about 105 million dollars less than that recommended by Gov. George M. Leader as necessary to carry out the administration program. Wood said that 80 million dollars of this will be in the form of deficit appropriations to cover deficits piled up during the present biennium.

Sabrejet Sets Another Record

MCGUIRE AIR FORCE BASE, N.J. (UP)—An Air Force Super-Sabrejet fighter set an unofficial transcontinental record Sunday when it swept across the country in 3 hours and 38 minutes.

The red, white and blue F100F, piloted by 32-year-old Maj. Robinson Risner, averaged 662 miles per hour on the 2,405 mile trip.

The old record, also termed "unofficial" by an Air Force spokesman, was set by Col. Robert Scott in March 1955 when his F84F jet streaked from California to New Jersey in 3 hours and 44 minutes.

Tuesday, Risner will pilot his Super Sabrejet along the trans-Atlantic route taken by Charles A. Lindbergh 30 years ago. When Risner's F100F lands at Paris it will be the first plane of its kind in Europe.

Await Word on Visit By Queen Elizabeth

WASHINGTON (UP)—American officials said today that a decision will be announced soon on whether Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip will visit the United States this year or next.

They said the chances are the Queen and her husband, Prince Philip, will come this year but that the decision is up to the British government.

The United States is anxious to have the Queen come. Officials said President Eisenhower would extend an invitation immediately if the British decide she should make the visit this year.

Blond Recovers From Attempts To Kill Self

MEXICO CITY (UP) — Hollywood blonde Francesa de Skaffa was recovering today from two week-end attempts to kill herself because of charges linking her with Confidential magazine.

Mexican bullfighter Jaime Bravo, her husband of two months, said she took an overdose of sleeping pills Saturday night and slashed her wrists early Sunday in a fit of depression.

A Los Angeles grand jury is reported to have indicted the 25-year-old actress and nine other persons last week for conspiracy to commit libel by furnishing Hollywood gossip to Confidential.

The Mexican government also has been investigating to determine whether to deport her for: 1) Failing to notify the Interior Ministry of her intention to marry Bravo two months ago, and 2) Reporting a jewelry theft which Mexican police suspect was a publicity stunt.

Famed Painter Burns to Death

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Famed portrait painter Penrhyn Stanlaws, 80, creator of the "Stanlaws Girl" of nearly 50 years ago, was burned to death Sunday in a fire at his studio.

Firemen said the artist apparently fell asleep while smoking a cigarette in an overstuffed chair.

Stanlaws, a graduate of Princeton, and a native of Dundee, Scotland, worked for the Chicago Daily News, in the movie industry and was a contributor to the Saturday Evening Post during his career.

His "Stanlaws Girl" was a hit with magazine editors and advertising agencies.

Gives Up $55,000 Job Tomorrow

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (UP) — A man who makes about $55,000 for less than five hours' work admitted today he is "more than glad" to relinquish his cushy political job to any of the five men fighting for it.

Joseph (Chipper) Tomaskovich, a $100-a-week steelworker, was elected tax collector of Franklin Borough (Population 1,900) four years ago. The borough, which lists only about 250 property owners, pays its tax collector a percentage of the money he collects.

The money - in - the - bank collection is the annual $400,000 check from Bethlehem Steel Corp. on its huge Cambria Works there.

Tomaskovich, 43, is not seeking re-election in Tuesday's primary election. Instead, he is running for borough council as a Democrat.

"It will be good to live a normal life again," he said. "I've been stared at, collared by the curious and asked by strangers to lend them money."

Five Seek Job

Five men are seeking Tomaskovich's job. Former Borough councilmen Louis Bosser and Frank Krzysko, councilman Peter Baran and former burgess John Kopler are seeking the nomination on the Democratic Ticket. Millard A. Roberts is running unopposed on the Republican side.

"Any one of them can have the job as far as I'm concerned," Tomaskovich said. "It's not as easy as it sounds. Collecting the borough and school taxes is easy . . . just go to the Bethlehem office and have that big check slapped in my hands. But I also collect county taxes and it isn't what it's cracked up to be."

Tomaskovich said at least one member of his family—he has a wife and three children—must be home at all times to accept tax payments.

"It's a burden," he said. "It pins us down. Our house is open every day of the year. We can't live normal lives."

Tomaskovich said the tax collector's job paid about $50,000 over a four-year period when he first took office. Since then, the pay has gone up about $5,000.

What did he do with his windfall?

"Nothing spectacular," he said. "We remodeled our five room home and bought a new car. Nothing much beyond that."

Tomaskovich said all the candidates for his post "can do a good job," but indicated a preference for Baran, a life-long friend who works beside him as a steel mill crane operator.

"At least none of them is running on a reform ticket," Tomaskovich said in reference to his 1953 opponent, a housewife who opposed payment of the lucrative salary.

Phil's Getting Big

LOS ANGELES (UP)— When Philip Alderette, 15 months old, yowled and screeched in imitation of his grandmother's cat everybody thought the performance pretty convincing. But Philip's feline charade ended when he tried to go through the cat's private exit outdoors. Firemen freed the boy from a small hole cut in the door of his grandmother's house.

Miners Digging in Attempt to Save Buddy Trapped in Shaft

LYKENS, Pa. (UP) — A group of miners "determined to find David Snyder one way or another" continued digging today in a gangway of a mine where he was trapped by a cave-in Friday morning.

Older miners and state mine inspector Robert Scheinder of Ashland, Pa., hold out little hope for the 35-year-old father of three children. State Police Sgt. Joseph L. Tochyba at the Lykens substation said the concensus of opinion is that Snyder will be dead when he is found.

The veteran miners base their opinion on the muffled rumble they heard a few hours after Snyder's last tappings Friday afternoon. The old-timers say this signnalled a second but smaller cave-in that entombed Snyder in a gangway, a small passage leading off from the main shaft of the slope-type mine in Short Mountain.

The rescuers believe the cave-in occurred 11:30 a.m. Friday.

Snyder ran to the far end of the shaft and sought shelter in the last gangway on the right hand side of the shaft. The gangway is about 30 feet long, five feet high and three feet wide.

Rescue workers rushed to the site when they learned of the disaster and have been working around the clock ever since. They communicated with Snyder by pounding rocks on a vein of coal leading to the trapped man. Snyder responded with taps, his last being heard at 4:30 p.m. Friday. He pounded five times. Then there was silence. Shortly afterwards, the miners say they heard the rumble, signaling the second cave-in.

Rescue teams working in small groups of two to four men cleared the 450-foot shaft and found Snyder's shirt and a pack of cigarettes late Sunday. Then they started digging away at the gangway.

Snyder's wife and three children remained at home waiting for any news of the miner. Mrs. Snyder is under treatment for shock.

A crowd of mute spectators milled around the mine area watching workers chop trees for shoring the excavated portions of the mine and waiting for any news of the tragedy. Foul weather late in the day forced the estimated crowd of 200, mostly women and children, to seek shelter.

The mine is one of many in the area known as an "independent operatio"—a small mine owned and operated by two or three men. It is owned by the victim, his brother, LeRoy, and Mark Sponic, 65.

Both Snyder's partners have been at the mine since the cave-in.

During the past 23 years seven men have been killed on the mountain. The most recent death was John Sedesse of Lykens, killed in the immediate area three years ago this month. His brother, Frank, is one of the rescuers.

Corn Borer Damaging In State Last Year

By UNITED PRESS

More than $4,500,000 worth of corn in Pennsylvania was destroyed last year by the European corn borer, the state Department of Agriculture reported.

Dr. Thomas L. Guyton, director of the bureau of plants industry, said the figure is the second largest in the history of Pennsylvania. Five million dollars worth of damage was recorded in 1951.

The corn borer, the corn growers' worst financial enemy, caused an estimated $120 million worth of damage last year in the nation's 22-state corn growing area. The corn borer is expected to make its first appearance about mid-June this year.

Most of the damage suffered in Pennsylvania last year was in Bucks, Berks, Lehigh, Chester and Northampton counties. The agriculture department attributed the heavy loss to favorable weather conditions. They pointed out that a low insect parasitic population also was partly responsible. Corn borers usually are controlled by insect parasites and birds such as woodpeckers and crows.

The corn borer is multi-generation which winters in corn stalks or thick-stemmed weeds. It usually works inside the growing corn stalks, causing it to break and prevent maturity of corn ears. It can be controlled most effectively by hubrid corn varieties bred to resist damage. Spray programs are usually not economical.

Lawns

Penn State extension agronomists warn that new lawn should not be seeded this time of the year. They explain that it's impossible for any desirable permanent turf grass to produce more than a shallow rooted seedling plant before the hot, dry weather comes.

The seedling plants cannot compete with the annual weeds which thrive in the heat of summer, according to the agronomists. They noted that most of the seedling permanent grass plants are killed by the hot, dry weather. Lawns that are planted now will have to be reseeded in the late summer.

If you seed your permanent grass in early September, it will develop a strong plant before winter. By next summer, the grass plants will have deep roots, and be mature enough to withstand the hot, dry weather.

If you fertilize properly at seeding time, and in late April, the turf should be deep enough to resist annual weeds.

'MISS PILGRIMAGE OF PEACE'—Rita Constance, of Philadelphia, who has been named "Miss Pilgrimage of Peace," is pictured in New York with a model of the Eiffel Tower and Dan Daniel, national commander of the American Legion. Daniel told reporters of a mass "Pilgrimage for Peace," which will take thousands of Legionnaires and their families to Europe this coming September on a "peace and goodwill mission."

Some Advice for The Woman Driver

By ALFRED LEECH

CHICAGO (UP)—A group of professional lady drivers came forth today with this advice to some of their less proficient sisters of the steering wheel:

"Keep your eyes open and your mouths shut."

The National Safety Council concurred, but had some nice things to say about women, too.

All nine of the women drivers quizzed on safety tips for womankood competed in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run.

Driver Myra Buchanan allowed as how there are three things that 'drive me crazy" about female drivers. She listed them thusly:

—Window shopping while driving.

Needless Talk

—Talking needlessly, looking at each other.

—Putting on makeup behind the wheel.

Patricia Jones, a stunt driver for an auto thrill show, said streets and highways are no place for daredevils.

These sentiments were concurred in by the other economy run competitors — Mrs. Mildred Alsbury, Loraine Bell, Mrs. Marilyn Miller, Ina Mae Overman, Marian Pagan, Mary Davis and Betty Skelton.

From their comments it would seem that women can be their own severest critics.

But Paul Jones, director of public information for the National Safety Council, said men are greater highway hazards. He added, however, that women "can be a little uncertain in traffic.

"It may be true," Jones said, "that when a woman sticks her hand out the car window it means only one thing—that the window is open.

"She may be pointing at a hat in a shop window, waving at a girl friend or drying her fingernail polish instead of giving a stop or turn signal.

"But nine times out of 10 when you see a car jackrabbiting down the street, weaving in and out of traffic, burning up the highway or cutting fancy capers, the driver is a man."

Asa Carter Faces Trial for Assault

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UP)—Asa (Ace) Carter, who claims support of "thousands" in a white supremacy campaign but got only a handful of votes in a recent city election, faces trial today on two counts of assault with intent to murder.

The executive secretary of the North Alabama White Citizens Council is charged with wounding two Ku Kluk Klansmen at a Klan rally. The trial is being held in Jefferson County Circuit Court.

William Snyder

Dear Voters:

Tomorrow is Election Day, the day of political decisions here in Monessen! I wish again to solicit your vote for CITY COUNCIL and I again repeat my sincere feeling which I expressed in my recent ad.

Monessen has been the home of my parents, Monessen has been my home, and in all probability, Monessen shall be the home of my children. Being an interested citizen with average intelligence, I feel a desire to serve the community, to help in its future planning, and to see that the decisions affecting the lives of all our children be made wisely and properly.

It is essential, in our form of democratic government, that new, young personalities of proper qualifications be injected into the political life of a community. In this way new blood, new ideas, new interest create the healthy needs for really good democracy.

We hear of the great progress that the present members of Council have helped make for the City and it is true that some progress has been made. However, there is still much to be done. In fact, when you hear of the projects being planned and weigh them against what has been accomplished over these past eight years, it seems that very little actually has been done.

The Councilman should promote and help progress the town. After all, what's he in office for? It is imperative that with this proposal of new undertakings and bold planning that the new, young, sincere, modern minds be also consulted. Any new debt to the community should be approached with much caution. Our present Council, no doubt, has the connections to get us into these improvements, however, getting out from under them later on may be the real problem. The younger people will have these debts to pay, the younger people should have a say. We must advance, and better Monessen in all ways, but decisions promoting these improvements must not be cut and dried decisions.

Having served 3½ years during World War II in the service, I do not feel that I owe a yes or no to anyone or anything at any time until my mind and heart does the dictating.

Sincerely,
William Snyder

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Margaret Cowan, who died eight years ago today, May 20, 1949.
She always learned to watch for us,
Anxious if we were late;
In winter by the window,
In summer by the gate.
And though we mocked her tenderly,
Who had such foolish care;
The long way home would seem more safe,
Because she waited there.
Her thoughts were all so full of us,
She never could forget;
And so I think that where she is,
She must be watching yet.
Waiting till we come home to her,
Anxious if we are late;
Watering from heaven's window,
Leaning from heaven's gate.
Sadly missed by Husband and Daughters

Grants for TV Education Are Announced Here

NEW YORK (UP)—The fund for the Advancement of Education announced today grants totaling $986,000 to eight cities and two states for the establishment of a program of classroom TV instruction beginning next September.

Dr. Alvin C. Eurich, vice president and director of the fund, said the program "will try to find out whether the experience in a few communities can be applied to most of our American schools." He said public school authorities were cooperating by contributing to the program on a matching dollar basis.

The cities where regular classroom instruction will be instituted in elementary and high schools are Atlanta, Ga., Cincinnati, Ohio, Detroit, Mich., Miami, Fla., Norfolk, Va., Oklahoma City, Okla., Philadelphia, Pa., and Wichita, Kans. The states of Nebraska and Oklahoma also will participate.

Eurich said the foundation had laid groundwork for the program by experiments in the use of TV in the public schools of Hagerstown, Md., St. Louis, Mo., Pittsburgh, Pa., and Chicago. He said the experiments demonstrated that a top-notch teacher can extend his services through the use of television and time, building space and equipment can be saved.

Experts Watch For Hatching of Whooping Crane

NEW ORLEANS (UP)—Experts watched today for the hatching of a second rare whooping crane in a captive nest that represents possibly the only hope of preventing extinction of the species.

Josephine and Crip, the only pair of whooping cranes in captivity, hatched the first of their two eggs early Sunday. That chick raised the whooping crane population to 30. There is one other whooping crane in captivity.

Dr. George Douglass, superintendent of Audubon Zoo, permitted scientists, newsmen and bird lovers to watch the nest only from a high-powered telescope on top of a nearby building.

This is the third time Josephine and Crip have hatched offspring. Two eggs which made headlines in 1955 were crushed and last year an owl carried off one chick and another died of disease.

Learn to 'Run' Your Ulcer, Instead of Let Your Ulcer 'Run' You

NEW YORK (UP) — Since people today are "tense from hurry, traffic and competition" it is no wonder there is so much indigestion and so many ulcers, said the professor of medicine and his assistants.

The important way to help all these people is to teach them what these ailments are all about, so that they can "run" their ulcers rather than letting the ulcers "run" them, continued the eminent authorities.

It's simple to see how our times generate indigestion and ulcers; just look around. These days a man "has a feeling of insecurity as he depends more on others, and he has a sense of frustration from not seeing a job completed with his own hands.

Has Inner Conflict

"The individual with dyspepsia or ulcer often has, in addition to outside pressures, an inner conflict because of ambition or goals which are set too high for attainment, and he has a sense of frustration and failure when the perfectionistic standards cannot be met."

It used to be different with people, when "the individual had a job requiring individual skill. He had some security of self-owned or small industry, and a sense of being useful and needed in community life." In those days there was less indigestion and fewer ulcers.

Dr. George E. Wharton, clinical professor of medicine, University of Southern California, and his assistants, Drs. Donald C. Balfour Jr. and Kent L. Osmon were filling in medical men with the latest in the technical journal, "Postgraduate Medicine."

Means Many Things

Indigestion means many things to people who have it but actually it is one thing — "disturbed physiology of the gastro - intestinal tract." When that occurs repeatedly, the deplorable situation must be examined thoroughly by the doctor to find out the precise cause or causes.

That is very necessary, to rule out the possibility of cancer, of course, but also to provide a sound basis for treatment. In indigestion this study is likely to demonstrate "chronic anxiety state" and "aero phagia." (Aerophagia is the swallowing of air while eating.)

In a case of duodenal ulcer, the study may well show: "Emotional tension and dietary indiscretions."

Needs Understanding

"In most cases," said the scientists, "if the patient understands the cause of his symptoms and their relation to emotional upsets, they are easier for him to control. A sympathetic explanation and an understanding attitude on the part of the physician are important for long term results in the treatment of dyspepsia.

"This is perhaps the most important factor in management, but unfortunately it often is the least stressed. The physician should explain of medicines in advance when an plain to the patient how therapy will help him heal his ulcer. The patient should be taught to avoid stress, over-fatigue, alcohol, coffee, etc., and to increase his dose unavoidable stressful event occurs."

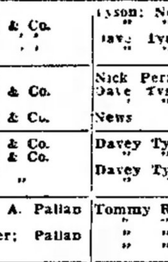
Betty Furness Gives Advice to Youngsters

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—Betty Furness, who has spent eight heady years opening doors on TV, hands out this advice to aspiring youngsters who want to open doors into TV:

"Be prepared for the most heart - breaking, back - breaking, soul - shattering experience in the world when you start looking for that first job. And put this in capital letters — don't come to New York unless you have experience.



William Ewald

"People always say they're looking for new faces. They're not. They're looking for old faces. TV doesn't have time to experiment with anybody who doesn't know the business. They don't have time to tell anyone how to act or where to find the camera. They can't afford mistakes."

Betty, the first pitchlady of TV, may be the only star who achieved success by putting all her bananas in the refrigerator. This month she marks her eighth anniversary as spieler for appliances on CBS-TV's "Studio One."

"Most of the letters I get," said Betty as she curled one purple-slacked leg over the other, "are from people who want my job. But I don't think there's any field in this business where you need more experience than in delivering commercials.

"It's the toughest job in the business because you're alone, absolutely alone. There's no one to prompt you or help you or cover you if you fluff. It takes a certain kind of confidence that can only come from feeling comfortable in front of a camera."

For youngsters who want to crack TV, Betty advises at least a couple of years' work in a small town radio or TV station or in a community theatre.

Atomic Tests Are Delayed Once Again

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—Atomic Energy Commission scientists today lost their gamble with the weather and were compelled to postpone for the fifth straight time an atomic test which had been scheduled for 5 a.m. p.d.t. today.

The nuclear blast, opening shot of the most extensive atomic test in history, was to have been set off atop a 500-foot steel tower in Yucca Flat on the southern Nevada atomic test site.

The AEC scientists had hoped that forecast wind conditions would change so that the deadly radioactive fallout from the blast would have been chanelled through one of several narrow alleys north and east of the test site, avoiding populated areas.

Instead, the forecast of meteorologists proved to be precisely correct and the fallout would have sprinkled upon populated areas southwest of Yucca Flat, 75 miles northwest of here.

The opening test of the 20-shot series, was re-scheduled for 5 a.m. p.d.t.

A Firm Will

NEW YORK (UP)—The Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York today reported a policyholder had named what the company considered a unique beneficiary in his will. The policyholder wrote that he was so pleased with the company's service that his beneficiary would be the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York.

Your Health—

Where Are Country's Healthiest People?

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Where do the nation's healthiest people live?

Recently released statistics show that it's not where you might suspect — in the heavily populated areas where they are surrounded by physicians, hospitals and other health facilities.

Instead, the West North Central section of the United States boasts the healthiest men and women in the country.

As of 1949-51, the period covered in the extensive survey, the five states with the highest expectation of life at birth for white males were South Dakota, 68.4 years; Nebraska, Minnesota and Iowa, 68.2 years, and Kansas, 68 years.

Females have a longer life expectation in virtually every state. In fact the figure was above 70 years in every state except New Mexico.

Nebraska headed the list with 74 years.

At the age of 25, men in South Dakota, Nebraska and Iowa could expect to live another 46.8 years, the highest of the 48 states. Women of the same age — 25 — could expect another 51.6 to 51.1 years in Oklahoma, Nebraska, Florida, Arkansas, Kansas, Iowa, Texas, South Dakota and Utah.

The survey, conducted by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in cooperation with the National Office of Vital Statistics, further showed that at the age of 65 the best record for men was in Arkansas where they could anticipate an additional 14.1 years of life.

Least favorable outlook was the 11.9 years for those living in Washington, D. C. Government life seems to be pretty tough on one's health.

For women of 65, the expectation ranged from 16.5 years in Florida to 14.2 years in New York and Pennsylvania.

In my home state of Illinois, the life expectancy at birth for white males in the 1949-51 period was 66 years, for white females it was 71.6 years.

At the age of 25, the men had an average of 44.3 years remaining while the women had 49.1 years to go. And at 65 the expectation was 12.4 for the men and 14.6 years for the women.

Five Men on Raft Reported to Be Breaking Up in the Pacific

SANTIAGO, Chile (UP) — A Chilean frigate steamed today to the help of five men who reported their 33-foot bamboo raft breaking up in a storm after drifting six months across the Pacific from Tahiti But there was some doubt whether it was in trouble

Radio amateurs in Chile France and Switzerland picked up the messages from the raft Tahiti Nui Sunday

The frigate Baquedano put out from Valparaiso Sunday night and Chilean "ham" Luis Desamarra reported it had made radio contact with the raft commanded by French navigator Eric de Bisschop

However, two American radio amateurs in Boston said they monitored a message from a Santiago "ham" saying "Everything okay now" The Americans were James J Donohue of Farmingham Mass, and William Hawthorn of Wayland, Mass

At the same time two amateurs in Honolulu reported they intercepted a message from the Tahiti Nui denying it was in any trouble They said it gave its position as 550 miles south and west of Juan Fernandez Islands De Bisschop and his four companions set out from Tahiti last Nov. 17 to prove it is possible to drift from Tahiti to Chile They are following the opposite course from the raft Kon Tiki

Aboard with De Bisschop are Francis Kowen, Michel and Alain Brun and a Tahitian cabin boy

French radio operator Yves Nainttie said De Bisschop messaged that the raft made of bamboo logs 22 inches thick and loosely bound together was partially breaking up after being pounded for eight days by storm winds up to 60 knots

Ricardo Vivado, president of the Interamerican Broadcasters Assn said he had received reports from several amateurs who heard the distress signals These reports said the raft was weighted down with deposits of barnacles and other sea crustaceans.

They said the crew was confident it could reach Valparaiso under its own power after being towed to the Juan Fernandez Islands for scraping and repairs

Another Administration Dispute

WASHINGTON (UP)—A serious split within the Eisenhower administration on a possible disarmament agreement with Russia appeared to have broken into the open today.

On one side was Adm Arthur W Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff He told newsmen Sunday he does not think Russia can be trusted 'to carry out disarmament agreements, and indicated he will battle for 'foolproof" arrangements before agreeing to any "open skies" disarmament inspection plan.

On the optimistic side was Harold E Stassen President Eisenhower's special disarmament adviser. He said on his return here Friday from London disarmament talks that this country and Russia are 'closer to agreement" on first-step moves for aerial inspection and arms reductions But he warned there are still many difficulties to be solved

Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles both have spoken recently with guarded optimism about prospects for a first-step arms limitation - inspection deal with the Soviet Union The President told his news conference last week he believes the Russians "are now growing more serious" about disarmament, partly because of an economic pinch

Radford, who is slated to retire in August, has been reported ready to speak out against disarmament after his departure from the Eisenhower "team"

Returning from a 24-day inspection tour of South America Sunday, he was reluctant at first to comment on the London disarmament talks.

Red Cross in Poor Financial Straits This Year

WASHINGTON (UP) — The American Red Cross is in a "precarious financial position" because of funds it spent aiding disaster victims the past two years National Chairman E Roland Harriman said today

Red Cross disaster funds are "completely gone" and total resources are sadly depleted," Harriman told the opening session of the organization's 32nd national convention

Harriman said the Red Cross is being forced to cut down on its budget to the point where programs are being effected

He told the 5 000 delegates the Red Cross is in financial straits 'primarily because we have spared no effort to do the job that the American people demand of the Red Cross"

President Eisenhower honorary chairman of the Red Cross planned to address the convention later today

Welk's Gifts Most Unusual of Them All

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Of all the gifts handed out by celebrities to the press, visiting firemen and others, the most unusual come these days from Lawrence Welk the gift king of them all

That is if you can use a tie clasp in the shape of an accordion, earrings in the form of little champagne glasses or neckties decorated with bottles and glasses

Liberace used to reign as the champion giver of unusual "loot." I have in storage some place a cigarette box shaped like a piano and earrings in the form of tiny candelabras, all garnished with his flowing signature

But this is the year of Welk, who has parlayed his "one-and-a-two-and-a" champagne music into a sensational television rating. Now my Liberace earrings have been replaced by a pencil with a tiny champagne bottle on top

I give out about $25.000 in souvenirs a year, including pictures," explained Welk when cornered about his custom

"I give them to anybody I get acquainted with at the TV studio on tours or at my ballroom It's a goodwill gesture I've found it always pleases people. and we're in the business to make people happy If we can do something a bit extra for our friends, customers and fans I feel it's a nice gesture

Welk has been handing out little gifts with his friendly hand shakes since he began climbing to the top 11 years ago, possible one reason for his enormous success In his office are grosses of items—little TV lamps, lapel pins cigaret boxes and ash trays in the shape of accordions; key chains, ballpoint pens and other small souvenirs decorated with his champagne insignia He orders them 10,000 at a time

He opened his suit jacket The inside pocket was sagging with an imposing array of Welk ballpoint pens and pencils He also carries a supply of calendar cards bearing his photograph in color which he orders in lots of 100 000

Five Narrowly Miss Death in Seaplane Crash

EEKSKILL NY (UP) — Five persons escaped injury—and possible death — by minutes Sunday night when a seaplane crashed into a house, crumbling a ceiling in the living room where they had just been watching television

The pilot, Kenneth Ballou 39 of Verplanck NY, died in a hospital four hours later.

Only a few minutes before the rented single-engine craft crashed into the house Mr and Mrs Morris Walder and three visitors had left the living room to go into the kitchen for dinner

The plane, believed to have developed engine trouble, smashed against an upstairs bedroom window, collapsing the ceiling and tearing in a section of the roof and the front of the house It then dropped to the lawn, with Ballou still in the cockpit

The plane, in which Ballou had taken off from a nearby seaplane base did not explode or burn

Police Search For Three of Five Prisoners

KANSAS CITY Mo (UP) —Authorities today sought three of five "extremely dangerous" prisoners who locked up 18 deputies and trusties and escaped from the Jackson County Jail in downtown Kansas City

Two of the escapees were captured about three hours after the break Sunday in a taxi cab three miles from the jail The two, arrested by motorcycle police 'checking every car' offered no resistance although they were armed with pistols taken in the escape.

Authorities manned road blocks around the city throughout the night, but said they found no trace of the other three

The five overpowered the guards with homemade ice picks They then rode an elevator from the 11th floor jail quarters in the county courthouse and fled through the basement.

The break was not discovered until 15 minutes later when police investigated after failing to get an answer to a telephone call
